LOWELL MASS. MONDAY JANUARY 20 1913

OVER 2500 HOLY NAME MEN

Attended Union Service at Immaculate Conception—Sermon by Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O.M.I.

The members of eleven Holy Name societies from this city and the surrounding towns united in a grand and impressive service at the church of the Immaculate Conception last night in honor of the feast of the Holy Name of Jesus. Each of the parish branches was represented by nearly all the members and the beautiful church was filled to the very doors with this great body of men. The number present was conservatively estimated to be upward of 2,000.

A large number made their way to the church with the intention of witnessing the union service only to be turned away at the door for the reason that there was room in the church for no more than the Holy Name societies. Even the choir loft was crowded and the great congregation of men viewed from that vantage point presented a most imposing scene. The union service of the Holy Name societies was truly a record one in attendance.

Eleven Societies Represented

The societies represented in this magnificent event were eleven in number and from the following parishes:

Priests From All Parishes
All of the parishes of Lowell and the suburbs were represented in this service.

The sermon of the evening was delivered by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., and those who officiated at the ceremonies were the following: Rev. Francis J. Mullin, of St. Michael's church, celebrant, assisted by Rev. C. J. Gallagher of St. Margaret's church as deacon, and Rev. Joseph P. Curtin of St. Patrick's church, sub-deacon. Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church, was master of ceremonies. Among the visiting clergy were: Rev. John F. Burns of St. Peter's; Rev. Fr. Walsh of Colchester; Rev. Fr. Mitchell of North Chelmsford; Rev. Fr. Cornell of North Billerica; Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I.

GRADE TEACHERS WANT AN INCREASE

The demand of the grade teachers of Lowell for a substantial increase in salary seems to be just and reasonable. If the school board uses the pruning knife where money is spent unnecessarily, it will probably be able to increase the pay of these teachers without adding much either to the tax-rate or to the total expenditure for school purposes.

Metto Discuss Possibility of New Church

Take Action on the Bill Affecting Them

COMMITTEE NAMED TO TAKE GEN-
SUS OF DISTRICT

Majority Seem Opposed to Such Project—Would Prefer Attendance at St. Jean Baptiste Church

The French speaking residents of Pawtucketville held a meeting at the Pawtucket Social club rooms in Moody street yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the possibility of a Catholic church in the district. Several speakers were heard on the subject and at the close of the meeting a committee of fifteen was appointed to take a census of the French speaking people of the district and also to get their opinion if possible on the matter.

There were 60 men at the meeting which was called to order at 2 o'clock by Euclid Cing-Mars, a popular member of the club. A chairman of the meeting was chosen and J. Walter Alexander was the choice. He is a few words, explained the purpose of the gathering, and said the movement of having a church in the Pawtucketville district was started a few years ago, but the matter was not pressed. He said two years ago when St. Columba's parish was founded the Pawtucketville Social club loaned its rooms to the new pastor for worship, and since that time the French speaking people of the district have wished more than ever for a church of their own. In his remarks the chairman referred to the burning of St. Jean Baptiste church, and concluded by saying that the members of the club thought it advisable to call a meeting of the men folks of the district and let them decide as to what course to take, and he told those present to weigh the question in a thorough manner before taking a vote for the support of a church and all that goes with it means a lot to the working class.

The bill is as follows:

An act relative to the promotion of all men in the fire department of cities and towns.

It is enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. Cities and towns, except at the city of Boston, which have a call or part call fire department, which now, or may hereafter be, subject to civil service rules, may, on the recommendation of the board of engineers of the fire department or the board of officers having like authority, appoint as members of the permanent force without civil service examination any persons who have served as call men for three or more successive years; provided, however, that no call man now on the civil service list shall be affected by this act.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

PRESIDENT TAFT AT YALE

Arrived in New Haven

This Morning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Measures of pacification instead of force are to be tried first on the band of Ute Indians holding a posse at bay 15 miles from Cortez, Colo., and refusing to give Big Rabbit, one of their tribesmen, who is charged with the murder of a sheep herder.

Acting Commissioner Abbott of the Indian office today wired Agent Speare at the Ute reservation to urge the state authorities to take no hasty action. Indian authorities here say the trouble came about through a misunderstanding over the possession of lands soon to be conveyed by the government to the Indians.

TO RESUME WAR

BULGARIAN LEADER AUTHORIZED TO PROCEED AGAINST TURKEY

Whenever Further Peace Negotiations Become Useless—Hostilities May Begin in Four Days

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Full power to declare the resumption of hostilities against Turkey was telegraphed today to Dr. Daneff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation and his colleagues, by the Bulgarian premier, J. S. Guchoff, who told them to exercise it whenever in their opinion further peace negotiations became useless.

The representatives of the Balkan allies will therefore directly notify General Savoff, the Bulgarian commander in chief, that the armistice has come to an end as soon as it becomes apparent that there is no hope of the peace plenipotentiaries reaching a mutually satisfactory arrangement. Hostilities may then begin in four days.

The Bulgarians now discover that they have been completely misled in regard to the conditions prevailing in the beleaguered Turkish fortress of Adrianople and have consequently decided that a prompt change in their policy is necessary.

Two weeks ago they were informed that the fall of the fortress could be expected hourly but a recent council of war held at Mustapha Pasha under the presidency of King Ferdinand came to the conclusion that Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander in Adrianople, had been able to economize the supplies in the fortress to such an extent that the garrison would be able to resist perhaps for several months.

Shukri Pasha completed the work of debasing the Bulgarians by means of false reports spread by supposed deserters who reached the Bulgarian lines drawn around the city. The commanders of the Bulgarian forces now know the truth and Bulgaria has determined to force a speedy solution, either by concluding peace or resuming the war so as to put an end to the heavy expenditure and to permit the men under arms who comprise virtually the whole of the able bodied population of Bulgaria, to return to agricultural work. Otherwise it is thought the next harvest will be lost.

The next meeting of the ambassadors of the European powers at the British foreign office has been postponed until Wednesday owing to the absence from town of two of the ambassadors. The Servians have decided to present tomorrow to the powers the memorandum which they have drafted, detailing their desires in regard to territorial changes arising out of the war. Servia will ask to be permitted to occupy permanently the eastern part of the district of Novi Pazar, bordering on the Servian frontier and also the entire region eastward from the river Drin to Lake Ochrida, as well as the fortress of Monastir, which the Servian troops captured from the Turks after a severe fight.

RAISED AND CUT AGAIN

The pay of William J. Reardon of the assessors office has been fluctuating day by day. In the last two weeks of December Mr. Reardon was receiving at the rate of $1500 a year and since then he has been cut to $1700. Up to the last two weeks in December, Mr. Reardon, who is considered a very competent man, was receiving $1600 per annum. Commissioner Donnelly, it was stated today, recommended a raise of $200 and the same was granted. It seems that a little later at least four members of the municipal council got together and decided to take away one hundred of the two hundred dollars that had been added to Mr. Reardon's annual stipend. He says that such action is contrary to civil service rules. At the time that Mr. Reardon was given the $200 raise, James Dunphy of the auditor's office was allowed a yearly advance of $50, as was Hector Lawlor of the treasurer's office, while Mr. Wilson of the treasurer's office was given an advance of $100.

EXAMINATION OF PATROLMEN

A civil service examination having to do with the police department will be held in the aldermanic chamber at city hall on Wednesday morning, Jan. 22, at 9 a.m. It will be an examination of patrolmen for promotion to sergeant and will be open to all members of the police force who have served one year or more as patrolman. From the eligible list established by this examination, names will be certified to fill one vacancy and other vacancies as they may occur.

APPLICATIONS FOR AUTOMOBILE FIRE APPARATUS

Commissioner Barrett of the water works and fire department stated this afternoon that the Robinson combination automobile fire apparatus was shipped from St. Louis, Jan. 19, and should arrive here the latter part of the present week or the first of next. The Seagraves machine, coming from Columbus, Ohio, will be shipped Friday of this week and then the Lowell fire department will have somewhat of a flying squadron.

Some Building Permits

INCLUDED in the building permits issued at the office of inspector of buildings at city hall since the last were published was one to Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson for the erection of an automobile house in Chelmsford street, corner of Victoria street. The building will be 12 by 18 feet and 15 feet high.

T. F. Hennessy has been granted a permit to make quite extensive alterations to his building at 243 Central street. The changes and alterations will be made in the poolroom over the Voyons theatre and will consist chiefly in the removal of partitions for the enlargement of the proscenium which will be brought out to the street.

Lively Hearing Tomorrow

The municipal council will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and the hearing on Constable Gately's remonstrance against the reappointment of Victor H. J. Belle Isle as constable will be taken up. It is expected that the hearing will be quite a lively one. Both sides, it is understood, have engaged counsel. The council may also elect a board of health member, though it was stated today that the election would probably be delayed.

Laborers on Half Time

Commissioner Cummings stated today that beginning next Monday the laborers in the lands and buildings department would be put on half time. This is customary at this time of the year and the men will remain on half time until the appropriations are made.

Commissioner Cummings took occasion to remark this forenoon that he would be delighted to vote for Judge John J. Pleckman for the park department if he would again be a candidate. "I would be sorry to learn," said Mr. Cummings, "that Mr. Pleckman had decided not to offer himself as a candidate for re-election."

CUT OFF BY THE SMOKE

Man in Burning Building Tried to Save Another

BROCKTON, Jan. 20.—When fire broke out in a 2½-story building at 29 Center street last evening John J. Hallinan of 16 Calmar St. rushed to the third floor to save a man reported to be there unconscious from the smoke. Hallinan crept above the floor, but could find no one, and was unable to reach the stairway, as he was cut off by the smoke.

Leaning from a front window Hallinan called for help and a ladder was run up. He was rescued by Francis J. McNally and Herbert B. Gullever of Ladd 2 was also cut off by the smoke and was taken down a rear window.

The fire started in a box of rubbish in the operating room of Dr. A. A. Gordon, dentist, who with his sons, occupied the entire second floor. The furniture and instruments were damaged.

John McAllister of Ladd 2 was not seriously injured.

MAYOR TO INVESTIGATE STORIES

Alleging Poor Quarantine Regulations in Homes Where There is Said to be Scarlet Fever

Dr. James B. Field called at Mayor O'Donnell's office this forenoon for the purpose of buying the mayor investigate certain alleged conditions having to do with scarlet fever cases. The mayor has engaged a competent physician to look into the matter.

Three or four local physicians held a meeting Sunday afternoon to discuss the scarlet fever epidemic in this city. They went over the matter of quarantine regulations of the board of health and it was agreed that some report should be made to the mayor, who is head of the department of public health. The doctors who met were of the unanimous opinion that the board of health is not enforcing quarantine in a satisfactory manner.

It was stated at the meeting that families having fairly pronounced symptoms of scarlet fever among their members, have not been sufficiently regulated by the quarantine rules and in some cases no quarantine at all has been established.

Mayor O'Donnell, this afternoon, said that he was not in a position to discuss the alleged charges. He said that it seemed to be a case of one doctor pronouncing it scarlet fever while another declared it was not scarlet fever. The mayor will make a report when he hears from the investigating physician.

Only 14 cases of scarlet fever have been reported at the office of the board of health since the beginning of the new year.

WATCHMAN SHOT BY DESPERADO

Signal Man Wins Race With Train and Snatched Wounded Man From Track

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Rather than submit to arrest, an unknown desperado shot down Alexander Dewar, a watchman employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, in the Boston street yards early last night, and though sought by scores of police, escaped.

Dewar, who lives at 237 E street, South Boston, lies at the point of death at City hospital, with a bullet in his left side below the ribs. He has small chance for recovery.

Over in the yards, just where the three major divisions of the road stand today like a three-pronged fork stands the South Bay signal tower. The operating room commands a view of the entire yard in that section, and in the moonlight of last night everything stood out clearly save where the overhead bridges near the tower threw their long, black shadows across the tracks.

Dewar was just going to work, and had gone up into the tower for a chat with William G. W. McCue, the signalman. Below them giant moguls puffed along, while now and then an express went thundering by as McCue turned the signals and threw over the switches to guide their passage.

A bell had gone and McCue was leaning on his lever, when, as he looked out the window, down the yards, he saw a flash of light, and behind it a man's visage. It was but a momentary glimmer, like the flicker of a match—then it was gone.

Watch for Flash of Light

McCue called Dewar to the window and together they watched. Presently it came again—over in the shadow cast by the bridge across the Plymouth division. Now it seemed to be a flashlight, playing on the ground. It lasted but a second, then was gone.

"Guess I'd better take a walk down that way," said Dewar, and he went out. McCue watched him as he crossed the tracks to the wall of the conduit and then turned south toward the overhead bridge. In the shadows of the shot at Close Quarters

Then they waited for the ambulance. Dewar, scarcely able to speak, said he had come down the tracks and found a man standing in the shadow of the bridge. The man was examining something in his hand with the aid of a flashlight. He was so absorbed that Dewar came right up to him and placed his hand on the man's shoulder before the stranger knew he was not alone.

"What are you doing here?" Dewar says he asked, as his grip tightened.

The man did not answer. He turned suddenly, there was a dash, and Dewar felt a bullet tearing through his vitals. He sank in a heap and the man disappeared.

Dewar says the man was about 5 feet and a quarter tall and wore a black overcoat and derby.

Presently the ambulance arrived and took Dewar to the City hospital. A second later, a tall figure leaped from the shadow, ran across the tracks to the wall and, still running, disappeared down the tracks.

At the same time McCue thought he heard a cry, "Oh, ooops!"

McCue rang up the train dispatcher at the South station and told him to hold all trains in the station. Then he called the railroad police, told them what had happened and asked for an ambulance. Then he hurried down stairs and started across the tracks toward the bridge.

As soon as word of the shooting reached the railroad police, a score of the company's detectives hustled out into the yards to search every car. All outgoing freights were halted and searched. The Boston police also aided and notified the police of nearby cities to look out for suspects.

Race to Beat Express

Just as he left the tower, a long, low blast came from the south. McCue knew it was the Cape Cod express entering the yards. It would be at the South station in a few minutes, and to reach the station it must pass under the very bridge where Dewar had fallen.

It is 75 yards from the tower to the tracks of the Plymouth division, and between them is a maze of tracks, switches, signal and safety apparatus. McCue started out across this maze, running like a madman.

Harding signal cables, dodging empty cars, jumping tracks and ditching, McCue made diagonally for the bridge. He had got scarcely more than half way when a headlight flashed from the south. The express was rounding the bend for the run into the station. The signal-man reduced his efforts. Now and then he stumbled, but he picked himself up quickly and went plumping on. Presently he came to the bridge and entered his shadow. The change was so sudden he could scarcely see. He spoke, Dewar answered and, guided by his voice, McCue groped his way to

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Members of the Swedish
Lutheran Church Meet

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD AND REPORTS GIVEN

Meeting Favors Equal Suffrage in Church Affairs—Officers to be installed Next Sunday

The members of the Swedish Lutheran church in Meadowcroft street held their annual meeting in the church vestry Saturday evening and the feature of the evening was the election of officers and the report of committees. The assembly also went on record for favoring equal suffrage in matters pertaining to the church, and this question will be brought before the New England conference.

The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. Sven H. Hammarstrom, and the reports of the various committees showed that the building has been entirely renovated during the past year at a cost of nearly $100, the various societies having contributed $300 to the treasury of the church. The contributions were as follows: Sewing society, $500; Birthday society, $140; Young People's society, $80; Immanuel society, $100. The present membership of the church is 402.

After the reading of the reports the election of officers was held with the following result: Olaf Lindquist and Frank E. Lindquist, deacons for three years; Olaf A. Berntson and Carl Johan Peterson, deacons for one year; Olaf Olson and Philip Gillson, trustees for three years; Nils Nilson, trustee for two years; Oscar Wikstrom, treasurer; Frank E. Lindquist, secretary; Anders P. Miller, superintendent of Sunday school; Victor Turquist and Emil Pearson, auditors for one year; Frank E. Lindquist was chosen delegate to the New England conference which will probably be held in New Britain, Conn. Carl V. Nilson was elected alternate, and August Nyström was elected janitor of the church.

It was voted to install a new heating plant in the parsonage, and the trustees were also authorized to make other necessary repairs. It was also voted to have a school in the basement of the church during the months of July and August, religious instructions to be given in the Swedish language.

The matter of equal suffrage for all members of the church was then taken up and discussed considerably and finally it was voted to ask the New England conference to change paragraph 4 of article 7 of the constitution, in order to allow women to have the right to vote in the selection of church officers and in the discussion of affairs of the church.

The installation of the newly elected officers will be held in the church next Sunday evening with formal exercises.

BABY SCANDAL

Selectmen of Arlington VIII Investigate Charges That Boarded Children Are Neglected

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Charges that "baby farming" is extensively carried on in some sections of Arlington and that children born in poverty or out of wedlock are "boarded out" with strangers and neglected are to be thoroughly investigated by the selectmen of town tonight.

"We have had some complaints from various individuals," said an official of the Arlington police department last night, "but as yet we have no evidence that any crime has been committed merely neglected is charged."

From various sources have come stories that children are being boarded out for such small sums in order to make any profit on them the families have to neglect them, and as a result the children suffer from lack of clothing or food or care.

The present law does not give the board of health the authority to exercise supervision over any family that has less than one child. This may result in the legislature being asked to pass a law which will give it supervision over any family that has even one child boarding with it.

The section of Arlington, where the so-called "baby farms" are located, is

Theodore Roosevelt

LATE TRAIN TO LOWELL

Is in Favor of a Campaign of EducationMidnight Service is Now Assured

In a letter addressed to William N. Osgood of this city, Col. Theodore Roosevelt says that the progressives must perfect their organization and carry on a campaign of education. The letter is as follows:

Office of Theodore Roosevelt,
287, Fourth Avenue, New York

Jan. 18, 1913.

My Dear Mr. Osgood—I am glad you liked my statement of mine regarding Mr. Munsey's proposal. I quite agree with what you say.

I hope you will go ahead and perfect your organization in Lowell. There is nothing more important for the progressives to do. We must not only perfect our organization everywhere throughout the Union, but we must carry on a campaign of education and enlightenment in order to bring home to the people of this country how necessary it is for them to adopt the progressive platform.

Neither of the old parties can or will carry on really progressive policies and sooner or later I am sure the people of this country will realize this. I hope you will go right ahead with the organization. Keep in touch with the progressive headquarters, Manhattan hotel, New York city, and also with Mr. Matthew Hale of Boston.

Sincerely yours,

T. Roosevelt.

Mr. Osgood, outlining the plans of the Lowell progressives for organizing, said that preliminary to the election of officers and the selection of headquarters, the progressive plan to hold a series of meetings to be addressed by leading members of the party, in which the platform and its principles will be made clear. Members of the party believe that once the people become acquainted with the real meaning of the progressive platform, there can be no doubt as to the rapid advancement of the cause.

PROBLEM OF MUNICIPAL LIGHTING

Intelligently Discussed by Ex-City
Official—Rates Likely to be
Higher Instead of Lower

A former city official, who is an expert on street lighting, says the city will gain rather than lose by making a ten-year contract at the lowest rates obtainable at the present time. Until the prices of coal and copper wire and the rate of wages come down, there will be no reduction in the cost of street lighting.

An ex-city official in conversation with a Sun representative, the other day, discussed the subject of street lighting in a very interesting manner, displaying a knowledge of the cost of production and the quality that was particularly helpful to the reporter.

Asked what he thought of closing a 10-year lighting contract at the present time, he said: "Sign it without delay if you can do so at present rates for gas, for then you can rely upon that the price of lighting will not come down. Otherwise, you may not get a good offer for closing that contract and this should encourage a contract that would be easily acceptable and even profitable to the city."

Continuing, this official said: "Those who believe that street lighting may be cheapened in the future than at present are, in this, at least, in error. The probabilities favor the probabilities."

The cost of lighting depends almost entirely upon three factors: the price of coal, the price of copper wire and the price of labor.

"If there is any apparent prospect of a reduction in the price of any of these factors within the next ten years?" was

"Not so far as human foresight can determine at the present time."

"Take the price of coal, for example. It is increasing upward every year and the market price is almost as high as it was when the great strike of miners took place five years ago."

"With there is a decrease in wages?"

"Not if the present business conditions prevail. The labor unions of the country will put up a strenuous battle against any attempt to reduce wages, but a business panic or an industrial calamity which nobody anticipates can bring any general reduction in the wage scale now in force in the various industries."

"If the price of coal and the rate of wages are up, anywhere near the present standard, we can predict that the price of copper wire cannot fall much below present quotations."

"To what other cause then can we look for any change that would reduce the cost of street lighting?"

"Some day, if this kind might result, we could reduce the great proportion of the energy in coal. Edison has studied that problem for two hundred years, however, and have been unable to transform more than 9 per cent of the energy of coal into power. That seems paradoxical, but it is true, according to all the experts, that the production of power which occurs in electricity from the combustion of coal."

"In this respect there is absolutely no hope of attaining any result in the

Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Ed-

Olive Tablets oil the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action,

The UNITED STATES DUNLOP (straight) TIRE

is the premier automobile
tire of the world

The Genuine Dunlop Tire

represents what thousands of motorists regard as the ideal type of tire. It is in no sense a new tire.

The Hartford Rubber Works practically introduced it into this country more than ten years ago, and it has always been one of the standard Hartford (now United States) tires.

No other tire has ever been imitated so widely as has this tire, and yet in no other tire has the original principle been so firmly adhered to.

The illustration on this page is of the original Dunlop tire, stripped of any and all the so-called "improvements" which some of the Dunlops have shown.

As an indication of the growth in favor which this genuine Dunlop has enjoyed, it may be stated that the United States Tire Company has, without the blare of trumpets, actually taken care of

More than a 600% Increase in Sales in Less than a Year's Time

So insistent has the demand become for this tire (in the face of the most strenuous competition on the part of other tires of a similar type), that we have been obliged to add immensely increased facilities for its manufacture during 1913. From now on the United States Tire Company will undertake to supply all the genuine Dunlop Tires demanded by the trade. Bear in mind—this Dunlop is the only Dunlop possessing all the merits of this extraordinary tire.

HOUSE WAS TOTALLY DESTROYED

Dwelling at Jones' Corner, Billerica, Burned Before Firemen Arrived

The North Billerica and Billerica
Centre fire departments were called out Sunday morning at 3 o'clock for a fire in a building situated at Jones
Corner, and owned by John Barnes.
Owing to the delay in sending in the alarm the building was totally destroyed when the fire apparatus arrived. The building was used as a lodging house, although it was unoccupied at the time of the fire. It is believed that tramps forced an entrance for a night's shelter and accidentally started the fire.

The Winter club of North Billerica will hold a social and dancing party in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall Friday evening, Jan. 25th. McGrath's orchestra will furnish music for the evening.

The next regular meeting of the Billerica grange will be held Thursday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The many friends of Elmer Stevenjured in an automobile accident last week, will be pleased to know that he is recovering rapidly.

SCHOOLS AS SOCIAL CENTRES

New Movement That Means Much to the People—How it Works in the Large Cities

Three hundred and thirty-eight schools in 101 cities of the United States were used as social centers during the past season, according to a report compiled by Clarence Arthur Perry for the Sage foundation. Officials of the United States bureau of education, who have examined the report, declare that it is bound to stimulate interest in this rapidly developing phase of the movement for wider use of the school plant.

Mr. Perry finds that in 41 of the 101 cities, social centers were directed by paid workers. New York had 48 such centers and Chicago 16, while Philadelphia, Boston, Columbus, Detroit, Jersey City, Louisville, Rochester and Trenton are also among the cities included in this list. There is wide variation in the length of the season, from five or six weeks in some localities to the full school term in others. In fact, little uniformity prevails as to what constitutes a social center. Mr. Perry presents in the report a tentative definition of a social center as follows: "A community may be said to have a schoolhouse social center if one of its school buildings are thrown open to the public for at least 12 weeks a year, for activities of a social, recreational, or civic character, regularly directed by one or more trained leaders."

The report also presents data on the growing use of school buildings for political meetings. In Cleveland, Ohio, meetings were held in the schools to discuss the new constitutional provisions that were before the people for adoption. In Jersey City

CAR SMASHED INTO WALL

Jumped Off Track In West Roxbury

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Racing along off the track for 60 yards an outward-bound trolley car smashed into the stone wall of the West Roxbury Parental school about 1 p. m. yesterday and rammed through the stone wall, two feet thick, making a hole six feet across.

Motorman George Finley was coming down the hill approaching the Charles river at a rapid clip, but at the switch the left-hand wheel clung to the flange and it was not until the car swerved rapidly to the right that the motorman realized that anything was wrong.

He quickly applied the emergency brake, but in vain. The car shot straight as an arrow toward the stone wall and Finley jumped, shouting to the conductor and the single passenger to save themselves. Their first knowledge that the car was off the track came when it crashed into the stone wall.

William Gass of 12 Needham street, Dedham, aged seven years, the passenger, who was sitting in the rear of the car, was hurtled out into the vestibule, was hurled out into the vestibule, with rare presence of mind he grabbed the brake and clung to it, being whirled around and around, and was thus prevented from being hurled down on the stones below.

Stephen Conley, the conductor, stuck to his post and was uninjured. The forward portion of the car penetrated through the wall and, strange to say, was practically uninjured, except that the fender was twisted.

The rear of the car remained on the track with the trolley on the rail. Conley, the conductor, snatched the trolley off the rail, and the car came to a halt, halfway through the wall. Traffic on the line was delayed until after three o'clock, when the car was taken away by a wrecking crew.

Persons living nearby say the accident was due to a defective rail. They say that seven cars have gone off the track during the past six weeks and that even the most careful driving could not prevent an accident.

PARADE OF 2100 MEN.

Elaborate Observance of Feast of the Holy Name at Portland—Bishop Walsh Speaks.

PORLTAND, Me., Jan. 20.—The feast of the Holy Name was observed by the Catholic men of this city with a parade to the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were two divisions, each headed by a band and 2100 were in the line of march, including 35 soldiers.

Maj. Michael T. Reagan was grand marshal and Capt. J. J. A. Mulhearn chief of staff. The following acted as aids: J. A. O'Neill and Frank Garry, Cathedral parish; Maj. M. E. Conley and Capt. T. J. Hogan, St. Dominic's parish; Edward F. Flaherty and John Coyne, Sacred Heart parish; William de Costa and Carl McCann, South Portland parish; George E. Donnelly and John J. McDonald, St. Joseph's parish; Ralph Urbano and Augustus Peverada, St. Peter's parish; James Duffy and Daniel Wilkinson, Liggett parish.

Night Signalman Tolon commanded the police patrol. The clergy of the several parishes marched with their parishioners.

The service at the Cathedral consisted of vespers and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. A feature was the singing by the choir and congregation of "Holy, Holy Lord." Bishop Walsh spoke of the meaning of the feast.

ITS LOWEST DEATH RATE

In New York in 1911 it was 14.6 per 1000 of Population—"Public Health is Purchasable."

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—New York state's death rate for 1912, 14.6 per 1000 population, was the lowest ever shown in the state. According to statistics for 1911 these figures indicate a saving of more than 5000 lives.

"Public health is a purchasable commodity," comments State Commissioner of Health Porter in submitting this information to the legislature in his annual report. "The magnificent achievements of Col. Gergas in the Canal Zone can be duplicated in every hamlet whenever people of the community make up their minds to have it so."

Contributing factors to the prevailing good health of the people of the state Commissioner Porter says, include the successful operation of the Child Storage Law and laws governing the pollution of streams, an active campaign against tuberculosis, conducted by the State Charities' Aid association, and educational campaigns against preventable and contagious diseases.

SUICIDE FOR MURDERERS

Proposition in Utah That Chinese Custom Be Adopted Rather Than the Electric Chair

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 20.—The method to be used hereafter in executing criminals in Utah has become a topic widely discussed since the legislature convened two weeks ago.

The latest idea expressed is that condemned criminals be allowed to take their own lives after they have exhausted every means to have the death sentence set aside.

The state law now provides that condemned criminals be executed either by shooting or hanging, the choice to be made by the person to be executed. Gov. Spivy in his message to the legislature recommended that the state adopt the electric chair.

Judge Thomas Maroney, an attorney of this city, has issued a statement in which he sets forth the advantages of the Chinese custom permitting a condemned criminal to commit suicide.

Join with other famous Americans in Praising Tuxedo Tobacco

THE history of Tuxedo tobacco is unique in many respects. The now famous "Tuxedo process"—by which all the bite and sting is removed from the best old Burley tobacco—was discovered by Dr. R. A. Patterson, a physician of Richmond, Virginia, the founder of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company.

Many of Dr. Patterson's friends, because their mouths and throats were so sensitive, were compelled to deny themselves the comfort and satisfaction of pipe smoking. Like all other men, the Doctor realized that complete smoke delight was possible only with a pipe. So he put his scientific mind to work on the problem.

He originated the now famous "Tuxedo process" of treating the mildest, sweetest, most thoroughly aged Burley tobacco—and the result was

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo grew rapidly in public favor without advertising; without any push of any kind, its natural growth reached the stupendous total of fifty or sixty million packages a year. Not until the past few months has it been possible to keep up with the demand for Tuxedo. Now increased facilities make it possible for every man to smoke this best of tobaccos.

Famous Americans in every walk of life smoke and endorse Tuxedo. Our world-famous athletes—the men who triumphed for America at the Olympic Games in Stockholm—are among the thousands who declare that Tuxedo is not only extremely enjoyable, but beneficial:

Tuxedo has many imitators, but no successful one—because no one has yet discovered the "Tuxedo process" that makes Tuxedo the most enjoyable pipe-smoke in the world.

THE DIGNITY OF LABOR

Rabbi Fleischer Says That Democracy

IN TIME WILL APPLY TO THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD

The Use of the Laborer is the Use of Man and No Man Should Regret That Fact

Rabbi Charles Fleischer was the speaker Sunday night, in the Grace church social forum. He spoke on the labor movement from the point of view of democracy. Democracy, he said, is an ideal of distinctly limited benefit, if it applies only to political institutions. Its application to the industrial world is just as necessary and it is as inevitable—in the course of time—as democracy in politics. In a word, industrial relations will be organized on the basis of respect for the individual. Even democracy cannot guarantee equality of other persons or conditions; but equality it must guarantee. Democracy ought to be a protector of the weak against the usurpations of strength. That, our government now, expressing our own public opinion, is undertaking to do, in curbing the ruthlessness of power.

The rise of the laborer is the rise of man.

"We used to believe that labor was a curse laid upon the race, because of man's first disobedience."

"But now we know, however true each of us may be, that work is good for the rest. Now we know that by toiling the race is redeemed from bondage to nature, which would not otherwise provide sufficient food for man, her foster child."

"Despite the ancient 'curse,' bread was sweet, though eaten in the sweat of his face, while man worked of his own will to meet his needs. But bread became bitter, as men became the slaves of stronger men, and earned their food no longer from the fertile womb of nature, but from the grudging hand of their fellow beings.

"Ages have passed. The long-suffering race is lifting its head from under the yoke. The laborer is rising. Man is raising himself upright—not in rebellion, but in the fullness of the dignity of that being that has not only 'clay' for kin, but God for fellow."

"Then let us drop the masks of master and slave—whether of work or of wage—and let us know ourselves as men, as brothers."

"Let us seek again—and may we find—the dignity of labor and the joy of toiling together not only for food, but to provide everything that makes for fullness of life for all."

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

The constitution of the French republic does not provide for a popular election of the president. He is chosen by the national assembly, which is equivalent to our congress. The system has worked very well in France, though it would hardly do so in this country. It was adopted at a time when the country was far from stable, politically, and when it was feared that a political campaign might lead to such results as frequently precipitate revolutions in South and Central America. And since the president is chosen by the members of the national assembly, he is often promoted from its ranks, or from some other branch of the government.

President-elect Poincaré has been the premier of the French cabinet for the past year, during which time the frontier has been guarded, so to speak, against the possibility of war with Germany. Consequently the policy of the government will remain unchanged, since he has had an important part in shaping it. But personally Poincaré is not a man who will seek war. In intellectual attainments and personal tastes he is very much like Woodrow Wilson; a distinguished author and scientist, a brilliant lawyer, a close student of political affairs. He has already attracted to the service of the government men of great ability, actuated by higher motives than those of mere political ambition. He is progressive in his ideas, but unyielding in his opposition to the radical socialists. His election is of more than ordinary interest in this country because he has an intimate knowledge of American affairs and has shown himself very friendly to the interests of the United States.

France is one of the traditional friends of our republic, and under President Poincaré this friendship should be cemented anew. It was said that Emperor William of Germany recognized in President Roosevelt a man after his own heart, and that the two found means of becoming well acquainted long before they met. One can easily imagine the same recognition between the new president of France and the new president of the United States.

CHILD LABOR IN LAWRENCE

Rep. John C. Sanborn of Lawrence has caused some little stir in the legislature by stating that he is opposed not only to child labor in this state, but in the nation at large. He says that he knows what he is talking about, because he has lived in a manufacturing city all his life, and was at the head of a Lawrence evening school of 1200 pupils, many of them boys and girls just above the working age, and consequently employed in the factories. They came to school so tired that many of them would fall asleep over their desks.

Mr. Sanborn finds that the problem is by no means a one-sided one. The modern Lawrence mill is the most sanitary in the world, and the state maintains a rigid inspection of the health conditions surrounding the young worker. But the trouble lies deeper than that. He finds that the parents of many of the children were stinted from going to work too soon in the mills. The children suffer in consequence and they in turn are put to work when they should be at school, all to help in support of the family.

When the boy or girl becomes 14, the working age, the parents can see no reason why the child should not enter the mill. The factory manager does not seek the child, but finds him waiting at the door, and recognizes him as an economic factor in the production of cloth. Mr. Sanborn believes that it is unfair to put the working age high in one state and low in another, and he would have it established by national legislation at a higher age than today, and rigidly enforced. Then all the industries of the country would be put upon the same basis, and there would be no such thing as competition in child labor.

This is the view that the country at large is likely to take in the near future. Labor laws in the various states are very uneven at the present time, yet the product of the mills must sell in the open market, regardless of advantage or disadvantage. There should be national legislation not only covering child labor, but the hours of labor as well.

THE ARGENTINE QUESTION

The state department in Washington can hardly fail to recognize the importance of avoiding even a commercial rupture with Argentina. Apart from the fact that we are exporting $6,000,000 a year to that country, and are likely to do a very much larger business in the future, is the necessity of looking to the Argentine cattle raisers to supply our deficiency in beef. At the present time that country offers the cheapest grazing in the world, and Argentine beef is being exported already to this country and to Europe.

Seen and Heard

The man who has a poor opinion of himself is usually justified.

A girl may not hit the mark always when she throws a stone, but she never misses when she throws a kiss.

The professor of political economy sometimes gets so angry so far below his merit that his wife has to know a lot about the domestic fowl.

We seem to be suffering equally from the beef trust and a gradual loss of grazing lands as the western states are grazed by the farmers, and the remedy in either case is to obtain cheaper beef from some other source.

The development of Argentina within the past 20 years has been remarkable. Its government has become stable, its people prosperous. From an obscure republic it has become a recognized power. It has a strong fleet. It can call upon half a million reserves in time of war. It sends to Europe for its art and its opera, and has begun to develop a considerable literature of its own.

It does not follow that the present dispute is justified. Brazil is an open market sought by the flour interests of both Argentina and the United States, and if the milling interests of this country are now able to sell their goods in the face of Argentine competition, the remedy is not to be found in a retaliation that may disturb all lines of trade between the two republics. But the circumstances will warrant more tact than is sometimes shown in dealing with the Spanish-American republics, because the United States really has much at stake, both in its present commerce and in its prospects. The Pan-American bureau in Washington should exert its very best efforts to avert a rupture, even to the point of offering a new trade treaty with Argentina.

The conference between Governor Wilson and Col. George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, held in Trenton, N. J., at the request of the governor, would suggest that he intends to make Goethals the first governor of the canal zone. President Taft had expected to make the appointment before he retired from office, but is said to have decided not to do so when informed that the democrats would hold up all of his important appointments, on the ground that they belonged to the new president. If the appointment is made by Mr. Wilson, however, it is certain to receive unanimous confirmation, since both parties recognize the signal service that Col. Goethals has performed for the country.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO

Antonio Fernand Received Serious Injury at Methuen—Name Placed on Dangerous List

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—Early yesterday morning an automobile, operated by Carl N. Soule of 5 Prospect street, Methuen, who was returning from Haverhill, struck Antonio Fernand, aged 24, of 12 Merrimack street, Methuen, and caused injuries which placed the victim on the dangerous list in the General hospital.

Soe and a man friend who was with him placed Fernand in the automobile and carried him from Methuen to the hospital.

This is the view that the country at large is likely to take in the near future. Labor laws in the various states are very uneven at the present time, yet the product of the mills must sell in the open market, regardless of advantage or disadvantage. There should be national legislation not only covering child labor, but the hours of labor as well.

THE ARGENTINE QUESTION

The state department in Washington can hardly fail to recognize the importance of avoiding even a commercial rupture with Argentina. Apart from the fact that we are exporting $6,000,000 a year to that country, and are likely to do a very much larger business in the future, is the necessity of looking to the Argentine cattle raisers to supply our deficiency in beef. At the present time that country offers the cheapest grazing in the world, and Argentine beef is being exported already to this country and to Europe.

AT FIFTY

Should fifty years knock out a man? Treasures and tombs, too, is the spun All the way to the sky. In which his body should be fit To meet the average strain? If he Fall short of that, then it must be Not nature, but himself to blame.

Not after years a man should be fit, But only when he's fit, that's when he Should last, till man's burden down.

At thirty years he takes the crown Of manhood, and for forty, shares In all the labor and the care.

Of kingship in his chisel, and when Those years are gone, decreases and then falls. May see him lay his crown aside And rest until the time comes When he shall quit it all and go To that mysterious Waterbury.

From which he came—but that's no sign.

That he must leave the flying line At fifty with his right half in And strength to go it "good and done."

North Attleboro School Committee Plans to Add $50 to Salary of Each Teacher

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Jan. 20.—The teachers of the public schools of North Attleboro will, it is expected, receive an increase in wages this year.

The school board has decided that the teachers are unperfected and that several good teachers have left town in the past because of being able to do better in other places. The committee will ask a larger appropriation for schools at the March town meeting and says it proposes adding $50 to the salary of each teacher in 1913.

KANE MYSTERY SOLVED

Finding Body in Lake Quinsigamond Clears Up Disappearance of Worcester Man

WORCESTER, Jan. 20.—Following a full search by the police, relatives and neighbors, the body of Patrick Kane, aged 35, of 18 Thorne street, who disappeared Dec. 6, was found floating near King's Point, Lake Quinsigamond, yesterday.

Harry Winchester of Lake avenue and Harry H. Wright of 61 Lake avenue noticed a dark object in the water and upon investigating found it to be the body of a man. The police reported it to the City Hospital morgue, where it was identified.

Kane's disappearance was the cause of considerable mystery to the police. He left home, saying he was going for a walk.

Mr. Lawry did not enter the contest until the 11th hour, but so effectively did he conduct his brief campaign that he had no opposition in the republican cause. He is the first newspaperman to be made a part of the legislative machinery for a number of years.

In 1905 he became interested in newspaper work and started as a reporter for a Lewiston paper. He has continued in newspaper work ever since, having served also on Portland and Augusta papers. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW

Bill Submitted to Make Provisions for Compensation Applies to Minor Injuries

The workingmen's compensation act of 1912 may be amended so as to be of more actual benefit to the laboring man and to insure him better care and protection in case of injury during the performance of his work. A bill is now before the legislature for that purpose. The act provided that the workingman must have received an injury that incapacitated him for a period of not less than two weeks in order to receive compensation. Compensation in this case began on the fifteenth day after the injury and in that way denied the victim of a period of care and compensation to which he is justly entitled, says the petition which accompanies an act providing for an amendment on this particular point. The petition in favor of the amending act says:

"While commendable in its general intent and purpose, the existing act fails to meet the needs and exigencies of the greater proportion of industrial accidents.

1-In providing that compensation shall begin on the fifteenth day after the injury, it unnecessarily denies to a large majority of injured employees from one to fourteen days compensation to which they are justly entitled, of which they are in need.

2-In providing that during the first two weeks the association shall furnish reasonable medical and hospital service and medicines when needed, it is inappropriate.

3-In imposing upon the insurance association the duty of giving proper services for the breach of which duty, or for the neglect of a servant employed to render these services the association would be liable in a civil action.

4-In imposing upon the injured employee who is compensated to the amount of two weeks the burden of meeting his own medical and hospital expenses out of a weekly compensation which cannot exceed $10, and may be as little as $4.

5-In that at common law, rights to which have been surrendered by the parties under this act, damages for injuries were based upon three factors: a-physical and mental suffering; b-expenses resulting from the injury, under the present act compensation is based upon but one of these elements, namely, medical expenses. During the first two weeks only, medical expenses resulting from the injury are compensated for, and after these first two weeks, and during the remainder of the period of disability, loss of wages only are compensated for.

For the above reasons your petitioner prays that these defects be remedied by having the compensation begin upon the day following the injury in all cases incapacitating for one week or longer, and by making the association liable for medical and hospital expenses, resulting from the injury for a period longer than is provided under the present act, substantially in accordance with the accompanying bill.

The bill submitted provides for the amendments here set forth.

Cathedral Crowded With Members of Holy Name Societies

Sermon by Fr. McNicholas

Between 30,000 and 35,000 men of the Holy Name society of the Boston archdiocese observed the patronal feast-day of the organization in 32 churches of the district. They were addressed by more than a score and a half of eloquent preachers, who dwelt upon the aims of the society, the duty of members and its application to the questions of the times.

It was one of the most widespread observances of the Holy Name feast-day ever held in this city and plainly showed the great growth of the society.

ment upon the province of the church are presented in persuasion and plausible arguments.

"Men of the Holy Name society, if you will only take notice, one thought today, let it be that the church is the divine instrument in the world to save your souls and to make you happy.

"If who takes the signals of danger to warn you against any theorized or movements, directly or indirectly oppose her influence in the world. Whatever be your lot or position in life, however much you may be the victim of injustice, let no one persuade you that the Roman Catholic church is not in sympathy with you.

Taught to be Loyal Citizens

"The church of Christ does not teach that any authority is communicated through her. She recognizes the authority of the state as coming from God and to be exercised in a province over which she has no jurisdiction. Many of the nations in these days fail to recognize in the church their best guardian and champion.

"Other institutions may undermine authority, but the Catholic church has ever taught and ever will teach respect for the authority of the state. Holy Name men, in an organized way you profess respect for civil authority. Your patriotism must be of the highest order because sanctified by religion.

"Your love of country, your respect for its laws and your fidelity to their observance, as taught you by your cardinal archbishop, will make you the most loyal citizens of this commonwealth.

"Again, the authority of God, confirmed by Christ, is extended to the home. The authority of the father and mother is the authority of God communicated to parents who rule the home. Many so-called social reformers today either exclude God in their plan of reconstruction of society or they fail to inquire into the rulings made by Christ for the home and the married state.

"Against the evil of divorce, which has destroyed in our own nation more than 1,000,000 homes in 20 years, the Catholic church rises up with the accumulated force and majesty of 23 centuries of consistent teaching of the sacred character of the home and of the indissoluble sacrament of marriage, upon which the home is founded."

The Cardinal's Address

The hymn to the Holy Name, sung by the congregation, followed and the cardinal made a brief address. "Early this morning at mass here," he said, "I had the great privilege of giving holy communion to over 1000 men of the Holy Name society. How shall I express my thankfulness and gratitude to God for this wonderful sign of so many thousands of Catholic men who have come here to sing the praises of the name of God's own son, to ask his strength for the battles of life and to receive the benediction of Jesus in the blessed sacrament?

The age of faith has not passed. God is still with his people. I raise my voice and heart today to ask Almighty God to bless and preserve the faith, to keep the name of our blessed Lord ever in your hearts so that the temptations of life you may have the power of that name which is omnipotent.

The cardinal presided at the solemn benediction which followed. Rev. Thos. R. McCoy was celebrant, Rev. M. Stanian, deacon; Rev. Nell A. Cronin, subdeacon; Rev. William H. Flanagan, minister of confessions. The concluding of the cardinal was Rev. Msgr. D. J. Spulak and Rev. Joseph Fabre, S. J., the latter of the German Catholic church on Shawmut avenue.

Gather in Central Churches

The meetings were arranged so that four, five or six societies from as many parishes would gather in one central church. This number was exceeded in some instances, especially in this city, where at the cathedral fully 4000 men gathered for the service which began at 3:15 o'clock.

In other sections, like South Boston, the half dozen societies met in one church, this including all the parishes of the section, also in East Boston. In the outlying districts, four, five or more towns were so arranged as to join in one particular town church so that in no instance was a service attended by less than four societies, thus bringing the attendance up to at least 1000 men in each gathering.

At practically every meeting the Hymn of the Holy Name, the words and music of which are the composition of the cardinal, was sung. At the cathedral this was a brilliant incident of the afternoon service, the great body of 4000 men joining in the hymn with the choir members directed by Pio De Luca. The great volume of voice was most impressive and the excellent manner in which the hymn was rendered by such a number was a great feature at the cathedral.

The first observance of the feast day of the society at the cathedral was at 7 o'clock in the morning, when Cardinal O'Connell officiated at a mass attended by fully 1000 men of the parish. The cardinal was assisted in giving communion by Msgr. M. J. Spulak, Rev. William B. Flanagan, Rev. Thomas R. McCoy and Rev. M. J. Stanian.

The cardinal made a brief address, saying that it was a pleasure for him to be at a gathering with the men of his diocese, but that there was no time which gave him more true gratification than when he met them at the communion rail.

It was there, the cardinal said, that both he and the men were in truth with God and because of that there could not be any other occasion which could equal it to bring happiness to all.

The afternoon service began at 3:15 o'clock. The societies from all the city parishes, also many from Roxbury and Brighton, marched to the cathedral, the total number of men easily being 4000.

Sermon by Fr. McNicholas

The cardinal attended with Rev. John T. McNicholas, O. P., of New York, editor of the Holy Name Journal, who preached the sermon. He opened by paying a warm tribute to the work of Cardinal O'Connell in building up the society.

Warren of Perplexing Problems

"Today," he said, "perplexing problems are presented to the Christian and the Catholic man. The ever abiding and unchanging principles of truth are assailed by subtle argument and under the pretense of liberty of thought and the liberty of action and freedom from oppressive conditions.

"Solutions that disclaim in words, but that prove in execution an encroachment upon the province of the church are presented in persuasion and plausible arguments.

"Men of the Holy Name society, if you will only take notice, one thought today, let it be that the church is the divine instrument in the world to save your souls and to make you happy.

Poor Olive Crop

Olives are going to be high this next year, so that we will be unable to enjoy the delicious fruit without feeling that we are eating money, which is pleasant enough if we are able to enjoy the sensation, although it makes the poor man resolve to dismiss them for at least a year until the new crop comes in. Spain, Italy, France, and all the rest of the Mediterranean countries have had poor crops, as the olive bugs have been feasting on the trees. And the olives left from last year are told to the trade at the end of the season. In the olive section of the United States it is the same, and the crop is unusually small.

SHAKY CANAL BRIDGE

On Central Street Needs

Surface Repairs

Of late considerable comment has been heard among people who have noticed the vibration of the canal bridge on Central street, and many seem to harbor the fear that the structure is not in a safe condition. From no casual investigation made this morning by a representative of the Sun, there seems to be no cause for being apprehensive of the safety of the bridge.

The canal bridge is at best a peculiar affair and to a stranger passing down Central street, there would be no evidence of the structure other than the vibration caused by the passing vehicles. Even if this is not so pronounced as to attract one's attention unless he were looking for it. From the construction of the buildings on either side of the street at that point, there is nothing to show that the waters of the canal flow underneath. The sidewalks are of ordinary concrete and to all appearances, the road itself is as solid as any other in the city. But the bridge is there and if you but pause in your walk while a heavy team or electric car passes by, you will feel the quivering of the sidewalk under your feet for the vibration is very distinct.

A few years ago, Central street was paved and during the period in which the street was closed for this process, new steel supports were added to the already strong underpinning of the canal bridge. Never has there been any trouble or complaint regarding the structure and as far as can be ascertained, it is perfectly safe.

The fact is apparent, however, that the surface is frequently cut up and uneven and that without frequent repairs the concrete becomes broken into deep ruts. The bridge at the present times requires the attention of the repair men.

The members of St. Jean Baptiste and St. Joseph's church choir will be tendered their annual banquet on Wednesday evening. The affair will be held in St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street and will be preceded by a department. Charges and statements concerning many departments have been turned over to the committee. Joseph Cameron has been engaged as the principal investigator for the committee, and with a force of men he will collect the testimony and evidence that may be needed.

TO HONOR DEAD MAYOR

Malden Hold Public Memorial for George L. Farrell at the Auditorium Next Sunday

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Malden will hold a public memorial service in honor of the late mayor, George L. Farrell, in the Malden auditorium next Sunday afternoon. President Taft, the governors of all the New England states and other prominent men who were guests of the mayor during Malden's merchants' week celebration last September will be invited.

City Solicitor Harvey L. Boutwell will be the orator, Miss Odile Cefrey will be the soloist and Miss Alice M. Newhall will be accompanist, with Albert H. Fisher as concert soloist. They had been engaged to take part in the inaugural exercises of the mayor on Jan. 6 but the exercises were cancelled because of his death New Year's day.

Members of the city councils of last year and the present year and all of the clergymen of the city will occupy platform seats, while the entire house will be open to the public. The programs are to bear a photogravure of the late mayor.

Artist Albin J. Bicknell of Malden has started work on the oil portrait of the late mayor, which is to be presented to the city and placed in the public library. The portrait will cost $250. Dr. A. J. Stevens and Dr. W. E. Hunt, who started to raise the funds, secured the entire amount in less than a day from citizens of Malden.

Enjoyable "Ladies' Night"

The Crimson club's room on First street was the scene of very pretty "Ladies' Night" last Wednesday evening.

The rooms were decorated by the members and much credit is due them for their excellent work. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and lasted until late in the evening. The program, furnished by the Highland orchestra, was very much enjoyed. The moonlight dance, to which the orchestra contributed special music, was the feature of the event and was encored repeatedly.

At intermission, while refreshments were being served, it was announced that the club would hold its annual dance in the near future.

ALGY THE COP

KIRK STREET CHURCH

Large Attendance at the Musical Service

The first of a series of musical services to be held at the Kirk street church attracted a large number of the parishioners and their friends last night. The program, which had been carefully prepared was most rare excellence. The regular quartet of the church being assisted by Emil J. Boring string quartet.

The first number on the program was "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" played by Arthur C. Spalding at the organ, and orchestra. For an hour anthems, solos, duets, hymns and instrumental numbers were given.

At the conclusion of the musical program, Rev. C. A. Lincoln gave an interesting address on "The Soul's Music."

He said that if all the creeds and theological discourses had been omitted, the music of the Christian church would still have been powerful enough to win the souls of men to Christ.

Plato had explained the influence of music upon the theory that the soul was aged old, and recognized in it the harmonies of heaven. It was more probable that God himself was the master musician, and that the divinity in man was dimly conscious of this fact.

In one event, said the speaker, the human soul was an instrument upon which the world could also play.

Whether the result should be discord or harmony was for each man himself to decide.

FIVE INJURED IN REVOLVER BATTLE

Bullets Fly in Boston—4 Men and a Woman Shot—Victims in Hospital

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—A revolver battle in the street in which five persons, one a woman, were injured, one probably fatally, three residents in the vicinity of Oliver court and Webster avenue, North End, into a pause yesterday afternoon. Of the persons concerned in the fight four are in the hospital, one is locked up and one is being sought by the police.

The injured are Salvatore Dousurro, 35 years old, of 23 North Brattle street, shot in the head and stabbed with a razor on the neck; Emanuel Russo, 22, North street, shot in the head; Michael Lemb, 37, 8 Oliver court, shot in the chest and left thigh and cut in the hand; Mrs. Dominic Lemb, his wife, shot in left leg, and Joseph Lemb, son, whose head was grazed by a bullet.

Dousurro's wounds will probably prove fatal. With the exception of the 18-year-old boy, Joseph, who is locked up in station 1, all the injured are at the hospital.

The shooting occurred shortly after 3 o'clock, and it was not until more than an hour later that the last of the injured had been discovered by the police more than three blocks away from the scene of the battle, hitting on the second door of a strange house.

Bullets Flew Freely

In addition to the bullets that struck the fighters, lead was freely scattered through the neighborhood. One slug tore through the corner of the wooden building at Oliver court and Webster avenue. One was found in the door casing at 7 Webster avenue. Another splintered the outer door at 8 Oliver court, and a great splash of lead on the brick wall across the open yard at the end of Oliver court shows where still another bullet stopped in flight.

Two revolvers and a pistol stained with blood were found by the police, all at points more than 100 yards away from the scene of the fighting.

According to stories told by those concerned in the affair, the gun fight was the result of an argument over wages. Michael Lemb, a contractor, had employed Dousurro and there was a disagreement over the amount which Dousurro should receive. Saturday night Dousurro went to Lemb's house, and during an argument assaulted his employer.

Yesterday forenoon he called again and was refused admittance. Later he returned, accompanied by Russo and another man, for whom the police are now searching. They were admitted to the house, and after some discussion the three visitors, Lemb, his wife and eldest son went out on the street. There the argument became violent.

From this point the stories of the participants conflict. Salvatore holds that young Joseph opened the battle. At any rate, there was a battle in which several participated, and at the end of the fusillade the fighters scattered.

When the police arrived on the scene none of the injured was in sight. A search of the houses about failed to bring anyone to light, but, following a trail of blood, the police found Russo

Hindle, William Flemming, James E. Rourke.

The annual evening party of the C. T. A. Union of the Archdiocese of Boston will take place this evening in Copley Hall, Boston. President John J. Gathrie and Secretary George F. Briggan of the Mathews will go to Boston and will be in attendance at the party.

The M. T. I. Bachelor Girls will hold their regular meeting Tuesday evening. Rehearsals for the coming musical song revue, which will take place early in the spring, will commence in a few weeks.

TO STOP CRAP SHOOTING

Judge Enright Fines Defendant $10

The shooting of crap and obstructing the sidewalks on Sundays is getting to be a nuisance; you see them in every street and alleyway; but it has got to be stopped," remarked Judge Enright in police court this morning before fining Alfred Plourde for obstructing Sutherland street.

Alfred Plourde, defendant and other officers, were up in Sutherland street Saturday evenings and Sundays, but the officers gave little opportunity to the boys owing to the fact that the police have men on the beat who give the signal when an officer is approaching.

On Saturday afternoon the officers broke up a crap game on the street and captured Plourde, who was held after the others had fled, to gather in the Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The court fined him $10, and he believed the officers to be the ones of $10.

Alfred Plourde will be given the last $10 by the Boys at St. Columba's parish, at Associate hall.

LOWELL BAR ASSOCIATION MET

Organization Assumes New Name

Officers Elected and By-Laws Accepted

The members of the Lowell Bar association held their first annual meeting this afternoon in the police court room in Dutton street. The meeting was largely attended and considerable business was transacted, among which was the changing of the association's name from the Samuel P. Hadley Bar association to the Lowell Bar association. The election of officers was also held, and other business of importance was brought before the meeting and disposed of in a satisfactory manner.

President William H. Bent occupied the chair and after listening to the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Secretary John J. Kirwin, he called upon the members for suggestions. A motion was presented asking that the name of the association be changed, and the party who made the motion stated that this was brought about with the approval of Judge Samuel P. Hadley.

A set of by-laws drawn by the executive committee was read and adopted. Those present signed the constitution and paid their annual fees.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN LAWS

Governing Corporations in New Jersey Announced by Gov. Woodrow Wilson

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—A sweeping program of changes in the corporation laws of New Jersey was announced by Governor Woodrow Wilson today. Not only would it be a misdemeanor, under the proposed laws, to acquire monopoly or interfere with freedom or competition but jail sentences are contemplated for those who promote or organize trusts.

To effect these changes seven voluminous bills have been drafted and will be introduced in the state legislature shortly. One bill provides for a punishment not exceeding three years' imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any corporation, firm, or individuals who may agree to any of the following:

"To limit production" or increase prices; to prevent competition in manufacturing, transporting or selling any commodity; to fix any standard or figure whereby prices to the public shall in any manner be controlled; to make any agreement which shall directly or indirectly preclude a free and un-

BULGARIAN LEADER AUTHORIZED TO PROCEED AGAINST TURKEY

Whenever Further Peace Negotiations Become Useless--Hostilities May

Begin in Four Days

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Full power to declare the resumption of hostilities against Turkey was telegraphed today to Dr. Panoff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation and his colleagues, by the Bulgarian premier, J. S. Guchoff, who told them to exercise it whenever in their opinion further peace negotiations became useless.

The representatives of the Balkan allies will therefore directly notify General Sashoff, the Bulgarian commander in chief, that the armistice has come to an end as soon as it becomes apparent that there is no hope of the peace plenipotentiaries reaching a mutually satisfactory arrangement. Hostilities may then begin in four days.

The Bulgarians now discover that they have been completely misled in regard to the conditions prevailing in the beleaguered Turkish fortress of Adrianople and have consequently decided that a prompt change in their policy is necessary.

Two weeks ago they were informed that the fall of the fortress could be expected hourly but a recent council of war held at Mustapha Pasha under the presidency of King Ferdinand came to the conclusion that Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander in Adrianople, had been able to economize the supplies in the fortress to such an extent that the garrison would be able to resist perhaps for several months.

Shukri Pasha completed the work of debasing the Bulgarians by means of false reports spread by supposed deserters who reached the Bulgarian lines drawn around the city. The commanders of the Bulgarian forces now know the truth and Bulgaria has determined to force a speedy solution, either by concluding peace or resuming the war so as to put an end to the heavy expenditure and to permit the men under arms who comprise virtually the whole of the able bodied male population of Bulgaria, to return to agricultural work. Otherwise it is thought the next harvest will be lost.

The next meeting of the ambassadors of the European powers at the British foreign office has been postponed until Wednesday owing to the absence from town of two of the ambassadors. The Servians have decided to present tomorrow to the powers the memorandum which they have drafted, detailing their desires in regard to territorial changes arising out of the war. Servia will ask to be permitted to occupy permanently the eastern part of the district of Novi Pazar bordering on the Servian frontier and also the entire region eastward from the river Drin to Lake Ohrida, as well as the fortress of Monastir, which the Servian troops captured from the Turks after a severe fight.

OVER 2500 HOLY NAME MEN Attended Union Service at Immaculate Conception—Sermon by Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O.M.I.

The members of eleven Holy Name societies from this city and the surrounding towns united in a grand and impressive service at the church of the Immaculate Conception last night in honor of the feast of the Holy Name of Jesus. Each of the parish branches was represented by nearly all the members and the beautiful church was filled to the very doors with this great body of men. The number present was conservatively estimated to be upward of 2000.

A large number made their way to the church with the intention of witnessing the union service only to be turned away at the door for the reason that there was room in the church for no more than the Holy Name societies. But the choir loft was crowded and the great congregation of men viewed from that vantage point presented a most imposing scene. The union service of the Holy Name societies was made to record one in attendance.

Eleven Societies Represented

The societies represented in this magnificent event were eleven in number and from the following parishes:

St. Peter's, St. Patrick's, St. Michael's, Immaculate Conception, St. Columba's, St. Margaret's, and the Sacred Heart Immaculate Conception last night in honor of the feast of the Holy Name of Jesus. Each of the parish branches was represented by nearly all the members and the beautiful church was filled to the very doors with this great body of men. The number present was conservatively estimated to be upward of 2000.

The sermon of the evening was delivered by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. and those who officiated at the ceremonies were the following: Rev. Francis J. Mullin of St. Michael's church, celebrant, assisted by Rev. C. J. Galligan of St. Margaret's church as deacon and Rev. Joseph P. Curtis of St. Patrick's church, sub-deacon. Rev.

Owen McQuaid, D. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church, was master of ceremonies. Among the visiting clergy were: Rev. John F. Burns of St. Peter's; Rev. Fr. Walsh of Collingsville; Rev. Fr. Mitchell of North Chemsford; Rev. Fr. Cornell of North Billerica; Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M.

GRADE TEACHERS WANT AN INCREASE

The demand of the grade teachers of Lowell for a substantial increase in salary seems to be just and reasonable. If the school board uses the pruning knife where money is spent unnecessarily, it will probably be able to increase the pay of these teachers without adding much either to the tax-rate or to the total expenditure for school purposes.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN OUT

Strike on the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad in Progress—Trains Running

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 20.—The strike of the 550 engineers and firemen of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad was still in progress today and one of the labor union officials announced they were prepared to carry it on indefinitely. Passenger service was resumed and the regular schedule was maintained today as far as possible with the aid of non-union men brought into Maine for the emergency.

P. J. McNamee, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, who was responsible for the statement that the men were prepared to continue the strike indefinitely, said they would not go back to work unless their demands for increased wages were granted or the dispute mediated at a meeting of 100 strikers they voted to stand firm. He announced that the men would not want for anything should they be out a year as food would be supplied by the labor organizations.

At Northern Maine Junction, the transfer point between the Maine Central and the Bangor & Aroostook from which all trains over the B. & A. lines are being run, there was not a sign of a strike this morning and beyond a brief delay in getting the baggage transferred all the trains left on schedule time.

Sheriff Rode in Cab

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 20.—The morning passenger train from Van Buren for this city was reported an hour and a half late at Caribou, 33 miles south of its starting point. The engine was manned by a non-union crew for the protection of whom a deputy sheriff of Aroostook county rode in the cab.

Railroad officials at Houlton declared there were men enough to handle all passenger trains though they would be run under a delayed schedule. The failure to move freight trains so seriously interrupted the shipment of potatoes that the Houlton chamber of commerce will hold a special meeting tonight to discuss the situation.

MAYOR TO INVESTIGATE STORIES

Alleging Poor Quarantine Regulations in Homes Where There is Said to be Scarlet Fever

Dr. James B. Field called at Mayor O'Donnell's office this forenoon for the purpose of having the mayor investigate certain alleged conditions having to do with scarlet fever cases. The mayor has engaged a competent physician to look into the matter.

Three or four local physicians held a meeting Sunday afternoon to discuss the scarlet fever epidemic in this city. They went over the matter of quarantine regulations of the board of health and it was agreed that some report should be made to the mayor, who is head of the department of public health. The doctors who met were of the unanimous opinion that the board of health is not enforcing quarantine in a satisfactory manner.

It was stated at the meeting that families having fairly pronounced symptoms of scarlet fever among their members have not been sufficiently regulated by the quarantine rules and in some cases no quarantine at all has been established.

Mayor O'Donnell, this afternoon, said (Continued to page eight.)

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Members of the Swedish Lutheran Church Meet

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD AND REPORTS GIVEN

Meeting Favors Equal Suffrage in Church Affairs—Officers to be Installed Next Sunday

The members of the Swedish Lutheran church in Meadowcroft street held their annual meeting in the church vestry Saturday evening and the feature of the meeting was the election of officers and the report of committees. The assembly also went on record for favoring equal suffrage in matters pertaining to the church, and this question will be brought before the New England conference.

The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. Sven F. Hammarlof, and the reports of the various committees showed that the building has been entirely renovated during the past year at a cost of nearly $1100, the various societies having contributed $500 to the treasury of the church. The contributions were as follows: Sewing society, $500; Birthday society, $140; Young People's society, $69; Emmanuel society, $100. The present membership of the church is 402.

After the reading of the reports the election of officers was held with the following result: Olaf Lindquist and Frank E. Lindquist, deacons for three years; Olaf A. Berntson and Carl Johan Peterson, deacons for one year; Olaf Olson and Philip Olson, trustees for three years; Nils Nilson, trustee for two years; Oscar Westrom, treasurer; Frank E. Lindquist, secretary; Anders P. Miller, superintendent of Sunday school; Victor Turenquist and Emil Peterson, auditors for one year; Frank E. Lindquist was chosen delegate to the New England conference which will probably be held in New Britain, Conn. Carl V. Nilson was elected alternate, and August Nyström was elected janitor of the church.

It was voted to install a new heating plant in the parsonage, and the trustees were also authorized to make other necessary repairs. It was also voted to have a school in the basement of the church during the months of July and August, religious instructions to be given in the Swedish language.

The matter of equal suffrage for all members of the church was then taken up and discussed considerably and finally it was voted to ask the New England conference to change paragraph 4 of article 7 of the constitution, in order to allow women to have the right to vote in the selection of church officers and in the discussion of affairs of the church.

The installation of the newly elected officers will be held in the church next Sunday evening with formal exercises.

BABY SCANDAL

Selectmen of Arlington Will Investigate Charges That Boarded Children Are Neglected

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Charges that "baby farming" is extensively carried on in some sections of Arlington and that children born in poverty or out of wedlock are "boarded out" with strangers and neglected are to be thoroughly investigated by the selectmen of the town tonight.

"We have had some complaints from various individuals," said an official of the Arlington police department last night, "but as yet we have no evidence that any crime has been committed. Merely neglect is charged."

From various sources have come stories that children are being boarded out for such small sums that in order to make any profit on them the families have to neglect them, and as a result the children suffer from lack of clothing or food or care.

The present law does not give the board of health the authority to exercise supervision over any family that has less than one child. This may result in the legislature being asked to pass a law which will give it supervision over any family that has even one child boarding with it.

The section of Arlington, where the so-called "baby farms" are located, is

Nature makes the luscious plum— Man makes the dry prune

Who would not prefer a luscious plum to a dry prune? It's flavor a man wants. The man who wants the sweetest, most fragrant smoke, does not buy crinkled or granulated tobacco which dries out in tin cans or paper packages. He prefers plug tobacco because he wants the true tobacco flavor.

If you keep the moisture in tobacco, you keep the flavor. In Master Workman Plug tobacco all the moisture and flavor is retained because every bit of natural goodness is pressed into the leaves and kept there by a natural leaf wrapper.

Isn't it natural that a dried-out, chopped-up tobacco should burn fast—smoke hot and bite your tongue?

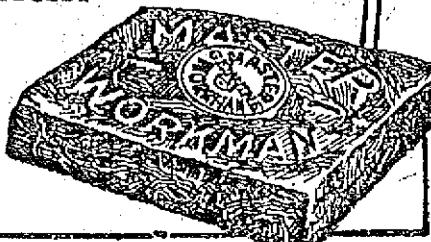

You can avoid all these faults. Buy a plug of Master Workman today. Cut off a fresh pipeful and see if you don't enjoy the slowest-burning—coolest—most fragrant—smoke you've ever had.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Is in Favor of a Campaign of Education

In a letter addressed to William N. Osgood of this city, Col. Theodore Roosevelt says that the progressives must perfect their organization and carry on a campaign of education. The letter is as follows:

Office of Theodore Roosevelt,
257 Fourth Avenue, New York.

Jan. 15, 1913.

My Dear Mr. Osgood—I am glad you liked that statement of mine regarding Mr. Munsey's proposal. I quite agree with what you say.

I hope you will go ahead and perfect your organization in Lowell. There is nothing more important for the progressives to do. We must not only perfect our organization everywhere throughout the Union, but we must carry on a campaign of education and enlightenment in order to bring home to the people of this country how necessary it is for them to adopt the proposals outlined in the progressive platform.

Neither of the old parties can or will carry our really progressive policies and sooner or later, I am sure the people of this country will realize this. I hope you will go right ahead with the organization. Keep in touch with the progressive headquarters, Manhattan hotel, New York city, and also with Mr. Matthew Hale of Boston.

Sincerely yours,

T. Roosevelt.

Mr. Osgood, outlining the plans of the Lowell progressives for organizing, said that preliminary to the election of officers at the next meeting of the organization the progressive plan is to hold a series of meetings to be addressed by leading members of the party, in which the platform and its principles will be made clear. Members of the party believe that once the people become acquainted with the real meaning of the progressive platform, there can be no doubt as to the rapid advancement of the cause.

PROBLEM OF MUNICIPAL LIGHTING

Intelligently Discussed by Ex-City
Official—Rates Likely to be
Higher Instead of Lower

A former city official, who is an expert on street lighting, says the city will gain rather than lose by making a ten-year contract at the lowest rates obtainable at the present time. Until the prices of coal and copper wire and the rate of wages come down, there will be no reduction in the cost of street lighting.

An ex-city official, in conversation with a Sun representative, the other day, discussed the subject of street lighting. An interesting manner of looking at the cost of producing gas and electricity that was recently surprising to the writer.

Asked what he thought of closing a present lighting contract at the present time, he said: "Sign it without delay, you will do well to pay rates for a year or two, but at the end of lighting is not coming down. Usually a company makes some concessions for a long time contract and this should ensure a contract that would be entirely acceptable and even profitable to the city."

Upon asking this official said: "There is no doubt that street lighting may be cheaper ten years hence than at present or in the near future are reasons enough to the probabilities."

The cost of lighting depends almost entirely upon three factors: the price of coal, the price of copper wire and the price of labor."

"Is there any apparent prospect of a reduction in the price of any of these factors within the next ten years?" was asked.

"Not so far as human foresight can determine at the present time."

"Take the price of coal, for example. It is mounting upward every year and this winter it is almost as high as it was during the great strike of miners some ten years ago."

"There has been a decrease in wages,"

"and the great business conditions prevail. The labor unions of the country would put up a strenuous battle against any attempt to cut wages and clothing but a business panic or an industrial calamity which nobody anticipates, can bring any general reduction in the wage scale now in force in the various industries."

"If the price of coal and the rate of wages are kept anywhere near the present standards, it is safe to predict that the price of copper wire cannot fall much below present quotations."

"To what other cause than can we look for any change that would reduce the cost of street lighting?"

"Something of this kind might result if we could utilize a greater proportion of the energy in coal. Experts have studied that problem for two hundred years, yet we have been unable to do so, except in the 9 per cent of the energy of coal into power. That statement seems paradoxical, but it is a fact known to all the experts in the production of power whether steam or electricity from the combustion of coal."

"In this respect there is absolutely no hope of attaining any result for the

OLIVE Tablets OIL the Bowels

A Physician's Substitute for Dangerous Calomel

When you feel that your liver and bowels need help take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Substitute for Calomel. Calomel is effective, but dangerous—causing bad after-effects.

Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Edwards for years has been Calomel's foe. He saw its dangers and its disadvantages in 15 years' practice, treating patients for all kinds of liver and bowel complaints. In his efforts to do without Calomel he developed his now famous little olive-oil-colored tablets. Olive Tablets are mild but effective. Safe and sure. Pleasant to take but uplifting in results.

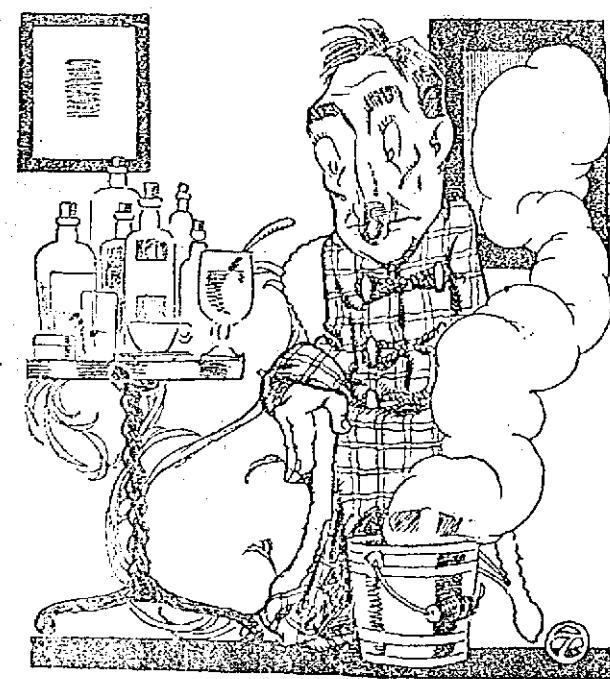

Olive Tablets oil the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action, and they tone up the liver at the same time. They are made from a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

If you want to regain that feeling of joyous buoyancy and clear thought take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work like a vacation. 10 and 25 cents per box.

Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

The Genuine Dunlop Tire

represents what thousands of motorists regard as the ideal type of tire. It is in no sense a new tire.

The Hartford Rubber Works practically introduced it into this country more than ten years ago, and it has always been one of the standard Hartford (now United States) tires.

No other tire has ever been imitated so widely as has this tire, and yet in no other tire has the original principle been so firmly adhered to.

The illustration on this page is of the original Dunlop tire, stripped of any and all the so-called "improvements" which some of the Dunlops have shown.

As an indication of the growth in favor which this genuine Dunlop has enjoyed, it may be stated that the United States Tire Company has, without the blare of trumpets, actually taken care of

So insistent has the demand become for this tire (in the face of the most strenuous competition on the part of other tires of a similar type), that we have been obliged to add immensely increased facilities for its manufacture during 1913. From now on the United States Tire

Dwelling at Jones' Corner, Billerica, Burned Before Firemen Arrived

The North Billerica and Billerica Centre fire departments were called out Sunday morning at 3 o'clock for a fire in a building situated at Jones' Corner, and owned by John Barnes. Owing to the delay in sending in the alarm the building was totally destroyed when the fire apparatus arrived. The building was used as a lodging house, although it was unoccupied at the time of the fire. It is believed that tramps forced an entrance for a night's shelter and accidentally started the fire.

The Winter Club of North Billerica will hold social and dancing party in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall, Friday evening, Jan. 24th. McDralls orchestra will furnish music for the evening. The next regular meeting of the Billerica grange will be held Thursday evening in the J. O. F. hall.

Although the owners of the above articles may not be willing to bequeath them to a historical society it is safe to assume that if a suitable fire-proof building was provided, many of the above mentioned articles and others that have not as yet been mentioned would be placed in it.

SCHOOLS AS SOCIAL CENTRES

New Movement That Means Much to the People—How it Works in the Large Cities

Three hundred and thirty-eight schools in 101 cities of the United States were used as social centers during the past season, according to a report compiled by Clarence Arthur Perry for the Sage foundation. Officials of the United States bureau of education, who have examined the report, declare that it is bound to stimulate interest in this rapidly developing phase of the movement for wider use of the school plant.

Mr. Perry finds that in 41 of the 101 cities, social centers were directed by paid workers. New York had 45 such centers and Chicago 16, while Philadelphia, Boston, Columbus, Detroit, Jersey City, Louisville, Rochester and Trenton are also among the cities included in this list. There is wide variation in the length of the season, from five or six weeks in some localities to the full school term in others. In fact, little uniformity prevails as to what constitutes a social center. Mr. Perry presents in the report a tentative definition of a social center as follows: "A community may be said to have a schoolhouse social center if one of its school buildings are thrown open to the public on one or more fixed nights a week for at least 12 weeks a year, for activities of a social, recreational, or civic character, regularly directed by one or more trained leaders."

The report also presents data on the growing use of school buildings for political meetings. In Cleveland, Ohio, meetings were held in the schools to discuss the new constitutional provisions that were before the people for adoption. In Jersey City

The constitution of the French republic does not provide for a popular election of the president. He is chosen by the national assembly, which is equivalent to our congress. The system has worked very well in France, though it would hardly do so in this country. It was adopted at a time when the country was far from stable, politically, and when it was feared that a political campaign might lead to such results as frequently precipitate revolutions in South and Central America. And since the president is chosen by the members of the national assembly, he is often promoted from its ranks, or from some other branch of the government.

President-elect Poincaré has been the premier of the French cabinet for the past year, during which time the premier has been regarded, so to speak, against the possibility of war with Germany. Consequently the policy of the government will remain unchanged, since he has had an important part in shaping it. But personally Poincaré is not a man who will seek war, in intellectual attainments and personal tastes he is very much like Woodrow Wilson; a distinguished author and scientist, a brilliant lawyer, a close student of political affairs. He has already attracted to the service of the government men of great ability, educated by higher motives than those of mere political ambition. He is progressive in his ideas, but unyielding in his opposition to the radical socialists. His election is of more than ordinary interest in this country because he has an intimate knowledge of American affairs and has shown himself very friendly to the interests of the United States.

France is one of the traditional friends of our republic, and under President Poincaré this friendship should be cemented anew. It was said that Emperor William of Germany recognized in President Roosevelt a man after his own heart, and that the two found means of becoming well acquainted long before they met. One can easily imagine the same recognition between the new president of France and the new president of the United States.

CHILD LABOR IN LAWRENCE

Rep. John C. Sanborn of Lawrence has caused some little stir in the legislature by stating that he is opposed not only to child labor in this state, but in the nation at large. He says that he knows what he is talking about, because he has lived in a manufacturing city all his life, and was at the head of a Lawrence evening school of 1200 pupils, many of them boys and girls just above the working age, and consequently employed in the factories. They came to school so tired that many of them would fall asleep over their desks.

Mr. Sanborn finds that the problem is by no means a one-sided one. The modern Lawrence mill is the most sanitary in the world, and the state maintains a rigid inspection of the health conditions surrounding the young worker. But the trouble lies deeper than that. He finds that the parents of many of the children were stunted from going to work too soon in the mills. The children suffer in consequence and they in turn are put to work when they should be at school, all to help in support of the family.

When the boy or girl becomes 14, the working age, the parents can see no reason why the child should not enter the mill. The factory manager does not seek the child, but finds him waiting at the door, and recognizes him as an economic factor in the production of cloth. Mr. Sanborn believes that it is unfair to put the working age high in one state and low in another, and he would have it established by national legislation at a higher age than today, and rigidly enforced. Then all the industries of the country would be put upon the same basis, and there would be no such thing as competition in child labor.

This is the view that the country at large is likely to take in the near future. Labor laws in the various states are very uneven at the present time, yet the product of the mills must sell in the open market, regardless of advantage or disadvantage. There should be national legislation not only covering child labor, but the hours of labor as well.

THE ARGENTINE QUESTION

The state department in Washington can hardly fail to recognize the importance of avoiding even a commercial rupture with Argentina. Apart from the fact that we are exporting $10,000,000 a year to that country, and are likely to do a very much larger business in the future, is the necessity of looking to the Argentine cattle raisers to supply our deficiency in beef. At the present time that country offers the cheapest grading in the world, and Argentine beef is being exported already to this country and to Europe.

Seen and Heard

The man who has a poor opinion of himself is usually justified.

A girl may not hit the mark always when she throws stones, but she never misses when she throws a kiss.

The professor of political economy never gets a salary so far below his merit that his wife has to know it about the contents kind.

Men never have any hooks and eyes about their garments, but they have a lot of trouble with them, just the same.

It pays to put down to breakfast early. The milk in the cream pitcher is always freshest at the top.

The young man who lets his mother pick out a wife for him may get a good wife, but she isn't sure to be a ravishing beauty.

"The man who shaves is never wholly bad," says a newspaper philosopher, "but you can't always say the same thing about his shave."

January is the time to remember that you will need extra clothes when you go on your vacation in June, and that the way to have it ready is to save it.

Some of the people who brag about the fashionable hotels, that they have stayed at would hate to have you be the rooms they occupied.

After a high school boy has studied chemistry about two weeks, it pleases him to say: "I can pass the chloride of sodium" at the table, when he wants the salt.

There are two classes of people in this world: those who put sugar on their oatmeal and those who say that seeing people put sugar on their oatmeal makes them sick.

Women are planned a good deal for talking gossip, but don't make the mistake of thinking they can always talk about literature and art and the great problems of the nation at the club.

The way for a man to make himself indifferent when his collar button rolls underneath the dressing-case is to have two others in his collar box.

"Recently" says a Richmond man, "I received an invitation to the marriage of a young colored couple, formally in my employ. I am quite sure that all persons similarly favored were left in little doubt as to the attitude of the couple, the invitation was as follows:

"You are invited to the marriage of Mr. Henry Clay Barker and Miss Josepha Mortimer Dixon at the house of the bride's mother. All who cannot come may send."

A wolf and a fox and a lion having headed themselves together, started a goat and a stag a mile and the first said to the wolf, "Divide these among us." The wolf said, "The goat is for thee, the stag is for me and the hare is for the fox," and when the lion heard these words he became wrath and leaped upon the wolf and choked him. Then he said to the fox, "Divide the spoil." And the fox said to him, "There is no meat for the breakfast, the hare for the dinner and the stag for the supper," and the lion said to him, "Whence hast thou learned to make such an equitable division?" The fox replied, "From the wolf which leapt before thee, O my lord and king."

AT FIFTY

Should fifty years knock out a man? Threescore and ten, that is the span allowed to him by Holy Writ, to which the average man of the full score of them, it must be. Not nature, but himself, to blame. If he be debard, blind and lame, at fifty years a man should be. But half way to the point where he should lay a full man's burden down, he would be still the owner of the crown of manhood and fair forty shares. In all the later and the earlier, of kingship in his class, and when these years are gone, three score and ten.

That he must leave the firing line at fifty with his light half won and strength to do it "good and done," —W. J. Lupton.

Do you come from Missouri? If so, we would like to tell you that your state houses three of the stinkiest men on the face of the earth. There is a here possibility, but necessity, that made them act as they did; if that is true, they deserve mention, anyway.

That the three of them are sons and grandsons of certain state legislators, so they hired one dress suit and wore it in turn during the evening.

I suppose they flipped a nickel to see who would have the honor of appearing in the suit first. The lucky one donned the suit, and had to go off up to some fair, mated, with whom he tripped the light fantastic for a measure, dancing occasionally at his watch, to see if his time was almost up. While number one was prancing around the hall, his fellow partisans, all the rest of the available, in an audience, puffing cigarettes, and discussing politics, with a peek through the key-hole now and then, to see how their friend was getting on.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW

Bill Submitted to Make Provisions for Compensation Applies to Minor Injuries

The workingmen's compensation act of 1912 may be amended so as to be of more actual benefit to the laboring man and to insure him better care and protection in case of injury during the performance of his work. A bill is now before the legislature for that purpose. The act provided that the workingman must have received an injury that incapacitated him for a period of not less than two weeks in order to receive compensation. Compensation in this case began on the fifteenth day after the injury and in that way denied the victim of a period of care and compensation to which he is justly entitled, an act providing for an amendment on this particular point. The petition on favor of the amending act says:

"While commendable in its general intent and purpose, the present act fails to meet the needs and exigencies of the greater proportion of industrial accidents."

1. In providing that compensation shall begin on the sixteenth day after the injury, it unreasonably denies to a great majority of injured employees from one to fourteen days' compensation to which they are justly entitled.

2. In providing that during the first two weeks the association shall furnish reasonable medical and hospital services and medicines when needed, it is inappropriate.

3. In imposing upon the insurance association the duty of giving proper ment upon the province of the church are presented in persuasion and plausible arguments.

"Men of the Holy Name society, if you will only take home one thought today, let it be that the church is the divine instrument in the world to save your souls and to make you happy."

"If she raises the signals of danger to warn you against any theories or movements, it is because these theories or movements, directly or indirectly, oppose her mission in the world. Whatever be your lot or position in life, however much you may be the victim of injustice, let no one persuade you that the Roman Catholic church is not in sympathy with you."

Taught to the Loyal Citizens.

"The church of Christ does not teach all authority is communicated through her. She recognizes the authority of the state as coming from God and to be exercised in a province over which she has no jurisdiction."

"In imposing upon the injured employee who is incapacitated for more than two weeks the burden of meeting his own medical and hospital expenses out of a weekly compensation, which cannot exceed $10, and may be as little as $1."

"In that at common law, rights to which have been surrendered by employees under this act, damages for injuries were based upon three factors: physical and mental suffering; loss of wages; expenses resulting from the injury. The present compensation is based upon but one of these elements at any stage of the disability. During the first two weeks only medical expenses resulting from the injury are compensated for, and after these first two weeks, and during the remainder of the period of disability, loss of wages only are compensated."

"For the above reasons your petitioners pray that these defects be remedied by having the compensation begin upon the day following the injury, and not on the day following the infliction of an incapacity for a period of two weeks or longer, and by making the association liable for medical and hospital expenses, arising from the injury, for a period longer than is provided under the present act, substantially in accordance with the accompanying bill."

The bill submitted provides for the amendments here set forth.

BOSTON SOCIETIES OBSERVED FEAST

Cathedral Crowded With Members of Holy Name Societies

Sermon by Fr. McNicholas

Between 30,000 and 35,000 men of the Holy Name society of the Boston archdiocese observed the patronal feast day of the organization in 32 churches of the district. They were addressed by more than a score and a half of eloquent preachers, who dwelt upon the aims of the society, the duty of members and its application to the questions of the times.

It was one of the most widespread observances of the Holy Name feast day ever held in this city and plainly showed the great growth of the society.

In this diocese under the direction of Cardinal O'Connell, who presided twice during the day at services in the cathedral, and spoke briefly on both occasions.

In all the churches where the union services were held, in the cities, the suburban places and smaller towns, the attendance was large. The society has been a particular care with Cardinal O'Connell, who in the four or five years since he was in charge has never failed when occasion offered to say a word for the society.

Gather in Central Churches

The meetings were arranged so that four, five or six societies from as many parishes would gather in one central church. This number was exceeded in some instances, especially in this city, where at the cathedral fully 1000 men gathered for the service which began at 3:45 o'clock.

In other sections, like South Boston, the half dozen societies met in one church, this including all the parishes of the section, also in East Boston. In the outlying districts, four, five or more towns were so arranged as to join in one particular town church so that in no instance was a service attended by less than four societies, thus bringing the attendance up to at least 1000 men in each gathering.

At practically every meeting the Hymn of the Holy Name, the words and music of which are the composition of the cardinal, was sung. At the cathedral this was a brilliant incident of the afternoon service, the great body of 4000 men joining in the hymn with the choir members directed by Pio De Luca. The great volume of voice was most impressive and the excellent manner in which the hymn was rendered by such a number was a great feature at the cathedral.

The first observance of the feast day of the society at the cathedral was at 7 o'clock in the morning, when Cardinal O'Connell officiated at a mass attended by fully 1000 men of the parish. The cardinal was assisted in giving communion by Msgr. M. J. Siplaine, Rev. William B. Finigan, Rev. Thomas R. McCoy and Rev. M. J. Scanlan.

The cardinal made a brief address, saying that it was a pleasure for him to be at a gathering with the men of his diocese, but that there was no time which gave him more true gratification than when he met them at the communion rail.

He was there, the cardinal said, that both he and the men were in truth with God and because of that there could not be any other occasion which could equal it to bring happiness to all.

The afternoon service began at 3:45 o'clock. The societies from all the city parishes, also many from Roxbury and Brighton, marched to the cathedral, the total number of men easily being 4000.

Sermon by Fr. McNicholas

The cardinal attended with Rev. John T. McNicholas, O. P., of New York, editor of the Holy Name Journal, who preached the sermon. He spoke of paying a warm tribute to the work of Cardinal O'Connell in building up the society.

Warned of Perplexing Problems

"Today," he said, "perplexing problems are presented to the Christian and the Catholic man. The ever abiding and unchanging principles of truth are assailed by subtle argument and under the pretext of liberty of thought and the liberty of action and freedom from oppressive conditions."

"Solutions that elucidate in words, but that prove in execution an encroach-

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

IS NOT FURNISHING ANY SENSATIONS

At the State Normal school this morning, Principal Durgin made the statement to a Sun reporter that a very slight incident in the innocent recreation of the students had been exploited as a sensation by some of the newspapers, although the matter was practically of no importance whatever. There was no scene, no riot, no disturbance or ill feeling of any kind. The only thing that actually did happen was that the classes had forgotten a rule that had been in force for some time, to the effect that no class meetings should be held without permission of the faculty. Some such meetings were held, and Principal Durgin simply notified the classes that the rule was still in force, and he expected it to be obeyed. That is practically all the foundation there was for a sensational report.

Miss Frances Clark, formerly of the Fitchburg Normal school, is now teaching at the Normal school, having charge of the classes in arithmetic and geography.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4:15, the classes and lectures for the Lowell teachers will be resumed. The subjects include psychology, arithmetic, geometry and dances, practical arts, trees and nature study, music and writing. These lectures are very popular with the teachers.

ONE SKATER DROWNED

And Companion Had a

Narrow Escape

MILFORD, N. H., Jan. 20.—Thin ice cost the life of one boy and a second had a narrow escape on Railroad Pond here yesterday afternoon.

Alfred Villane, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Villane, is the drowned boy. With Wane Pilippanen, a chum of the same age, he went skating to 15 feet of water.

Harry Wilmet saw the accident and, with Fred J. Young, went to the rescue. By means of a ladder Young succeeded in reaching the Pilippanen boy as he was sinking for the last time.

The other lad disappeared under the ice and it required half an hour's work by the police with grappling hooks to locate the body.

Young Pilippanen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pilippanen of 15 West street.

Music Recital

A very pleasing recital was held in the studio of Edward Everett Adams in Odd Fellows Temple Saturday night. Practically all of the music was from the modern composers and the program was well received. Those who took part were: Miss Isa M. Friedman, Miss Letitia V. Young, Miss Laura Mason, Mr. William Hall, Mr. Harry A. Pascall, Mr. Robert F. Kenney, Miss Miriam E. Warren and Mr. Edward E. Adams.

Refused to Go to Work--
27,000 Went Back

As William H. Sullivan, who has been sporting editor of The Sun during the past year, is employed on the Telegraph desk in the office, Mr. Cecil P. Dodge, well known as a high school and Dartmouth athlete, has been secured to take charge of the sporting department of The Sun.

Mr. Dodge's versatility as an athlete is well known to local followers of sport. While a student in the Lowell high school he was a member of the football, baseball and track teams. For two years he was captain of the latter.

EXPLORATION OF BOILERS

Two Killed and Three-injured in Howland, Me.

HOWLAND, Me., Jan. 20.—Two persons were killed and two or three others injured today by the explosion of boilers in the boiler and dynamo house connected with the plant of the Howland Pulp & Paper Co.

The dead are: Stephen Toote, aged about 50, who was killed outright, and Clifton Wallace, 26, who lived a short time. Both leave families. John McCluskey, who is nearly 60 years of age, sustained internal injuries, including two broken ribs. These three were employed as firemen. Ralph Chamberlain, a teamster, was slightly injured.

A fire broke out but was confined to the building which was wrecked. The loss was estimated at $20,000. The company employs 350 men.

Wallace died shortly before noon.

THREE DEAD IN A FIRE

Woman and Her Two Children Were Trapped by Flames in Elizabeth, N. J.—Two Men Injured

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 20.—In a fire believed to have been of incendiary origin in a wooden tenement here yesterday, a woman and her two children were trapped on the third floor and burned to death. Two men were injured, one probably mortally, by jumping from a third story window.

Mrs. Louis Sibard and her two daughters, 2 months and 4 years old, respectively, are dead. Rafael Murrillo, a boarder, is in a hospital in a critical condition. The charred bodies of mother and children were found in the ruins.

When Mr. Dodge entered Dartmouth he carried out his promise and became one of the most valued members of the varsity eleven in his freshman year, playing quarterback. The following year he played end on Clarke Tobin's famous team, being injured in both the Princeton and Harvard games. During these years Mr. Dodge also made the Dartmouth track team, running the century dash in even times and the four hurdles. He also qualified in the high jump and the quarter-mile relay team. Thus he is entitled to wear the muchcoveted "D" having won it on four different occasions. At Dartmouth also Dodge was chosen as captain of his freshman football team and was elected president of his class, although he entered college practically unknown.

Besides his work in college and school athletics, he has competed under the colors of the B. A. A. and other famous athletic clubs. He has won prizes for swimming in New England meets. In addition to all this, Mr. Dodge has been a close follower of all branches of sport. He is well acquainted with most of the famous athletes of the past decade, and is intimate with many of those who represented Uncle Sam at the Olympic games in Stockholm.

Parties identified with local sports of various kinds should notify Mr. Dodge of coming events, that they may be properly covered in The Sun.

Textile School Sports

Varsity basketball has been abolished at the Textile school for the present season at least, and class teams have taken its place. There was a time when Textile basketball was a regular diet for local sport followers. At that time Charlie Church and Ossie Fields were at the Moody street institution, and the team was a wonder. It is still remembered how this team defeated the Dartmouth five the year the New Hampshire college turned out its championship team. Since that time Textile basketball has taken a bad slump.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. L. was held yesterday morning with a very large number of members present.

The usual large number of propositions for membership was entered and among those who were proposed were the following: Frederick J. Gleason, Maurice Griffith, Frank J. Harry, Joseph E. Dwyer, John J. Dwyer, John J. Hurley, John J. Mulligan, and John P. Curry.

The investigation committee reported favorably on the following names: Paul McCaffrey and Archie Kenepet.

During the course of the meeting Mr. James McManiman, the chief marshal of the St. Patrick's day parade, was called upon to address the members on the advisability of parading on that day. He declaimed at considerable length upon the benefits to be obtained from a parade.

After hearing Mr. McManiman, the members voted to appoint a committee to see each member of the society and get his ideas on the matter.

Chairman Cole of the baseball tournament committee announced that the tournament starts tonight with Teams 7 and 8 on the alleys.

The opening night in the tournament has always been a night full of fun and tonight will be no exception.

The board of directors announces that within the near future the initiation fees are going to be raised.

The card tournament ends this week, and the young men have the lead thus far by a very small margin.

It was voted to hold "Ladies' night" Tuesday, Jan. 23. This promises to be the biggest ladies' night yet held. The committee is making arrangements for a concert to be given from 7.45 until 8.30 by the very best local talent obtainable.

It is the intention of the committee to have the mothers and fathers present on this night as guests of the institution.

The committee, up the night before Lent, dance to be held in Associate hall, reported everything in readiness and it is leaving no stone unturned to make it a grand success, and a good time is assured all who attend.

Election of Officers

At a recent meeting of Branch St. Louis, A. C. F., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Alphonse Dalmatian, president; Henri Poirier, vice president; Arsene Trudel, secretary-treasurer; Albert Marcotte, and Valerie Bruneau, marshals; J. N. Gregoire, auditor.

The installation of these officers will be held on the evening of Feb. 2, when a smoke sale will be held, during which the following articles will be drawn: Marquette pipe, box of cigars, and other useful articles.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK MARKET

WERE WEAK AT THE OPENING OF THE STOCK MARKET

Execution During the Noon Hour—Market Fell Back Abruptly This Afternoon

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Copper shares were the weak features of the stock market at the opening today. American Utah Coppers lost a point each.

The leaders closed 10 points lower. Westinghouse was up 1.41 higher.

Active stocks ranged within one-eighth of their opening figure but some of the specialists fluctuated widely. American Tobacco was pushed up over seven points to 238. International Paper profited 2 points and General Electric, which closed at 144, 1.32. The market opened at 144 by the 30 per cent stock dividend and then reacted to 131.

Operators took their cue from the London market, where selling of the copper shares was caused by a severe drop in the price of the metal. The price for copper fell 10 cents a pound down, but there was little disturbance of the railroad list and it was only after weakness appeared in speculations that the standard stocks began to sag.

Possibility of a decision in the imminent case against the New Haven road had a restrictive effect on the market.

More excitement and violent movements were compressed into ten minutes trading during the noon hour than for a long while. A rumor was checked that the supreme court would render a decision in the Minneapolis rate case.

Shorts scrambled hasty to cover and prices bounded up rapidly. When the traders failed to get notification of the report, the urgent buying stopped and market fell back abruptly and became dull.

When it was announced that the Minnesota rate decision would not be given today bear traders attacked the list on the ground that there would be another week of suspense. Steel, U. P., and Standard Oil sold 1 to 2 points under Saturday's closing figures.

Last week's low prices were nearly reached by some of the leaders, while Anual made a new low level.

The market closed steady.

Services Held at Lithuanian Catholic Church

The reopening of the Lithuanian Catholic church in Rogers street, which was gutted by fire some time ago, was marked with a grand celebration on the part of the members of the parish. The burned temple was remodeled and now presents a still better appearance than before the fire.

Services were held yesterday at 8 and 10.30 o'clock, the last mass being the parish mass. Before the service, however, the members of the parish gathered at the Holy Trinity church in High street and preceded by members of the clergy and the flags of the different societies of the church, paraded to the new temple in Rogers street, where imposing services were held by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Oechnovitz.

The congregation was very large, and appropriate music was rendered by the church choir. The sermon of the occasion was delivered by the pastor who took advantage of the occasion to thank the fathers of the Immaculate Conception church for the use of their temple in their time of distress.

BULLET HOLES IN SKULL

Skeleton of Man Found

in Bushes

HAMILTON, Jan. 20.—The quiet little town was considerably worked up yesterday when the report was quickly circulated that a skeleton of a man had been found late Saturday afternoon on the estate of Secretary of the Navy George L. von Meyer, by Edward Stanley, a crossing tender at the Wensham and Hamilton depot of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Saturday afternoon while returning home from an afternoon gunning trip Mr. Stanley discovered the skeleton in the bushes near a swamp about half a mile from the road. He notified George H. Gibney, chairman of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Shortly after 10 yesterday morning in company with Mr. Gibney, Medical Examiner George A. Bailey of Ipswich, Officers Alfred T. Pool, Oscar A. Wood, Selectmen Arthur C. Cummings, George K. Knowlton and Edward Stanley, who discovered the body, motored to the Dane estate where they viewed the remains.

According to the statement of Medical Examiner Bailey the man had been dead for at least two years, and there was nothing left but the skeleton, which was covered by clothing. The clothing was carefully examined by the medical examiner, but not a thing was found that could give the police any information.

On examination of the skull it was found that two bullets had passed through it, one entered the right side of the head above the ear and came out at the top of the head, the other entered the head close to the first bullet.

The medical examiner and police are of the opinion that the man was murdered, as either bullet could have caused instant death, and it would have been most impossible for the man to have made a second attempt to end his life, which was done away with the bullet.

From appearances the man was fairly well dressed and looked to be about 5 feet, 5 inches and about 35 years of age. He wore a black soft felt hat with a low crown, dark pants and coat. He had on a pair of Congress shoes. He wore heavy underclothing and heavy woolen stockings, which were supported with garters. His clothing looked as if it was new at the time of his death.

To Pacific Indians

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Measures of pacification instead of force are to be tried first on the band of Ute Indians who held a posse at bay 18 miles from Cortez, Colo., and refusing to give Big Rabbit, one of their tribesmen, who was charged with the murder of a sheep herder.

Acting Commissioner Abbott of the Ute office today wired Agent Speare at the Ute reservation to urge the state authorities to take no hasty action.

Indian authorities here say the trouble came about through a misunderstanding over the possession of lands soon to be conveyed by the government to the Indians.

Local Call FIREMEN PRESIDENT TAFT AT YALE

Take Action on the Bill Affecting Them

Arrived in New Haven This Morning

LOCAL CALL FIREMEN PRESIDENT TAFT AT YALE

Take Action on the Bill Affecting Them

Arrived in New Haven This Morning

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 20.—President Taft arrived here this morning with Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Moore. He was met by Professor Emery of the Yale faculty and Master Charles Taft. The president went at once to Woodbridge hall for the corporation meeting, while Mrs. Taft and her sister went to hotel to inspect the suite of rooms which are being made ready for the family to occupy when the president takes up his university duties as Kent professor of law. Mrs. Taft also expected to visit several houses which have been offered for permanent residence. While the president expected to be here until the late afternoon, Mrs. Taft planned to return earlier.

The call members of the local fire department, together with the call men throughout the state with the exception of those of Boston, are greatly interested in a bill, known as Senate Bill No. 3, which if passed provides that call men outside of Boston may be appointed to the permanent force after three years of service without taking a civil service examination.

This proposed bill was discussed at considerable length at the meeting of the Lowell call men held yesterday afternoon in the Middle street engine house and it was voted to have the legislative committee of ten members attend the hearing on the bill on February 4 and advocate its adoption.

The bill is as follows:

An act relative to the promotion of call men in the fire department of cities and towns.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. Cities and towns, except the city of Boston, which have a call or part call fire department, which now is, or may hereafter be, subject to civil service rules, may, on the recommendation of the board of engineers of the fire department or of the board of officers having like authority, appoint as members of the permanent force without civil service examination any persons who have served as call men for three or more successive years; provided, however, that no call man now on the civil service list shall be affected by this act.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Several Lowell men attended the congress of the Association de la Jeunesse Franco-American, which was held in Boston yesterday afternoon. The affair took place at the City club and was largely attended; delegates being present from all parts of New England.

Considerable business was transacted and finally it was voted to reorganize and affiliate with the association in Canada, which is connected with that of France. There were two delegates from Montreal present and they spoke interestingly. The Lowell men who addressed the gathering were Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I., and Rev. Henri Achin, Jr.

The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock and Rev. Henri Ach

FIVE INJURED IN REVOLVER BATTLE

Bullets Fly in Boston—4 Men and a Woman Shot—Victims in Hospital

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—A revolver battle in the street in which five persons, one a woman, were injured, one probably fatally, threw residents in the vicinity of Oliver court and Webster avenue, North End, into a panic yesterday afternoon. Of six persons concerned in the fight four are in the hospital, one is locked up and one is being sought by the police.

The injured are Salvatore Doussoff, 22 years old, of 2 North Bennett street, shot in the head and slashed with a razor on the neck; Emanuel Russo, 35, North street, shot in the head; Michael Lembo, 37, Oliver court, shot in the chest and left thigh and cut in the hand; Mrs. Domenic Lembo, his wife, shot in left leg; and Joseph Lembo, son, whose head was grazed by a bullet.

Doussoff's wounds will probably prove fatal. With the exception of the 15-year-old boy, Joseph, who is locked up at station 3, all the injured are at the hospital.

The shooting occurred shortly after 5 o'clock, and it was not until more than an hour later that the last of the injured had been discovered by the police more than three blocks away from the scene of the battle, hiding on the second floor of a strange house.

Bullets Flew Freely

In addition to the bullets that struck the fighters, lead was freely scattered through the neighborhood. One slug torn through the corner of the wooden building at Oliver court and Webster avenue. One was found in the door casing at 7 Webster avenue. Another穿孔了 the outer door at 8 Oliver court, and a great splash of lead on the brick wall across the open yard at the end of Oliver court shows where still another bullet stopped in its flight.

Two revolvers and a blood stained razor were found by the police, all at points more than 150 yards away from the scene of the fighting.

According to stories told by those concerned in the affair, the gun fight was the result of an argument over wages.

Michael Lembo, a contractor, had employed Doussoff and there was a disagreement over the amount which Doussoff should receive. Saturday night Doussoff went to Lembo's house, and during an argument as sold his employer.

Yesterday forenoon he called again and was refused admittance. Later he returned, accompanied by Russo and another man, for whom the police are now searching. They were admitted to the house, and after some discussion the three visitors, Lembo, his wife and eldest son went out on the street. There the argument became violent.

Conflicting Accounts

From this point the stories of the participants conflict. Salvatore holds that young Joseph opened the battle. At any rate, there was a battle in which several participated, and at the end of the fusillade the fighters scattered.

When the police arrived on the scene, none of the injured was in sight. A search of the houses about failed to bring anyone to light, but, following a trail of blood, the police found Russo

THE Y.W.C.A. AUXILIARY

Listened to Address by

Miss Harriet Boutelle

There was an unusually large attendance at the second meeting of the Woman's auxiliary in the Young Men's Christian association building.

The devotional service was conducted by Rev. A. C. Ferrin, pastor of the High Street Congregational church. Mrs. Burton A. Kinney gave a detailed and interesting account of all that is going on in association life, in other countries as well as in this. Miss Dorothy Hurd contributed to the program with two songs, which she sang in a very pleasing way.

Miss Harriet Boutelle, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, spoke entertainingly of the work that is "worth while." She told of the good work that is being done for girls, and quoted many of her own experiences in association work.

There are now 525 members of the auxiliary, six new names having been added since the last meeting. Two gifts for the ladies' parlor were acknowledged by the auxiliary. Mrs. E. B. McEvoy has given a beautifully embroidered table cover; and Mrs. Craven Midgley has given a large clock in memory of her two sons, Henry and Paul Ferrin. Mrs. H. W. Hood and Mrs. J. M. Kendrick have sent in two more wheels, with the money necessary to carry on the work of the auxiliary.

Next Saturday afternoon and evening an opportunity will be given for out-of-town visitors, men and women,
